EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

MR. MOODY says church fairs are an abomination.

GOVERNOR HILL, of New York, is said to be a woman hater.

—The Logan Hose boys indulged in a dance Friday evening.

FIVE THOUSAND shoe lasters in Massachusetts are threatening a strike.

GLADSTONE still shows his ability to make an able and eloquent speech.

GLADSTONE has spoken and now they are trying to discover what he said.

FRANKLIN B. GOWAN wants to be president of the Reading Railroad Company again.

SENATOR MAHONE, of Virginia, it is reported, will locate in the Red River Valley, Dakota.

IT is a rare exception for the weather bureau to make a correct prediction of the condition of the weather.

DOM PEDRO, Emperor of Brazil, who visited this country some time ago, is spending much money in perfecting a flying machine.

ACTOR JOHN MCCULLOUGH'S body now reposes in the burial vault in Monument Cemetery, Philadelphia. "After life's fitful fever he sleeps well."

REPUBLICAN postmasters have been turned out and Democratic postmasters substituted under the present administration at the rate of fifty per day.

MR. STEAD, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, of London, is now in jail because he tried to purify London morals. His punishment is a disgrace to England.

RIEL was hanged on Monday, November 16. The execution created great excitement throughout Canada, and, of course, attracted interest in both England and America.

IT is a singular and suspicious circumstance that the captain, first mate and second mate of the unfortunate steamship Algoma were all included in the small number of survivors.

IT is unfair to compare Blaine's vote in Pennsylvania with that for any other person. Blaine is so immeasurably superior to any other candidates that they could not expect to gain so large a vote.

THE Mugwumps of British politics are all against Gladstone because he is intensely British. In America the gentlemen of that name are opposed to Blaine because he is intensely American.

THERE was too much pine in Galveston. The town should spruce up and be a brick.—Phil'a. Press. Perhaps locust or hickory would be more pop(u)lar. At present one-half is ash and the rest we suppose is all O (a)K.

MR. SHARON died very rich, but except his foolish exhibition of vanity, and his vile immoralities, there was nothing in his life to distinguish him; yet the reporters follow every step of the preparations for his burial as if he was one of the greatest, instead of one the meanest men of the age.

WHEN there was only one Democratic paper in Bellefonte, the majority of that party in the county was 1700. For seven or eight years there have been two papers and now their majority is only 400. During that time there has been only one Republican paper, and the arithmetical question we propose is, How many more Republican papers will be required to force the Democratic majorities in Centre county up to the figures they were before?

ONE of Ferdinand Ward's complaints is that he has to eat with 1,185 other prisoners, and that he cannot eat what they give him. He is represented as drawing his knuckles across his eyes, in which the moisture had gathered, as he said this. No doubt Ward regrets Ludlow Street Jail and the luxuries that money would buy him there. But the Young Napoleon of Finance should remember that the great Napoleon himself was not pleased with St. Helena any more than he is with Sing Sing.

It Would be Creditable.

The Watchman, of the 13th instant takes for an editorial text the following from the DAILY NEWS:

The ordinary observer of political events in Centre county cannot fail to notice that there is a sure and gradual weakening of the Democratic party in the county and an increase in Republican strength.

Among the comments is the following sentance.

It is the fault of you fellows who stayed at home, that this taunt has appeared in the NEWS.

We assure Democratic stay-at-homes that the words were not intended as a taunt, but as commendation. We believe it to be to the credit of Democrats that they have the manliness and good sense to refrain at times from voting for a candidate of their party who may not be the right man for the office, or even to vote for a Republican who may be a gentleman of high character.

The Watchman becomes quite absurd when it continues:

The very idea of a Republican victory in Old Centre is preposterous.

On the contrary, we believe no better event could transpire than a Republican victory in Old Centre. We fail to realize why every so-called Democrat should not change his political creed by voting the Republican ticket.

There are two reasons why he should do this, the least important of which is that he might thus purify what is probably a corrupt Democratic administration of county affairs.

A far more important consideration to impel every citizen of Centre county, no matter what his political name may be, to vote the Republican ticket, is that he may thus cast a vote for protection. "But," says our agricultural friend, "that's all well enough for a man who is connected with some struggling manufactory in the city, but I want a market in all parts of the world for my wheat, and corn, and I shall vote for free trade," Well, my dear farmer, you may vote for free trade, and may secure it, and, while the markets for your wheat and corn will not be extended at all, the struggling manufactory will be killed and its employes will be sent wandering as tramps through your fields, devouring your substance, without the ability to recompense you. Why will you not learn that your interest and that of the struggling manufactory are identical? If that manufactory proves a success and all its employes are well paid, they will buy your wheat and corn and pay you well for them.

We go further than most protectionists. We believe that no manufactories ever become so strong, and no method of manufacture so perfect that it is not benefited by protection. All considerations should prompt us to make the article we manufacture so perfect that there will be a demand for it in other countries, no matter what it costs to obtain it. If it is the best article manufactured in the world (and well fed, well-encouraged labor alone can produce that), the article will become the fashion in other countries and we will have the money of the rich men in those countries pouring across the ocean into our coffers. This was being accomplished under the fostering care of Republican protection, but the work is still in its infancy. From this on the united aim of the Republican party should be to increase the tariff, and as almost every Republican platform declares for protection while Democratic platforms declare for free trade, such will be the result.

When, for the benefit of our agricultural friend, we inform him that 50 years ago only one person in twenty-five lived in the cities, and that now one person in every three lives there he must be convinced that the proper market for his produce is in these cities, at home. If wars or bad crops shall cause a scarcity in foreign countries, then the farmer will have an additional market, which he will always have anyway if his crops are, by proper care and cultivation, made superior to those of other countries.

Does not this convince every citizen of Centre county, whether called Democrat, Greenbacker, Prohibition or anything else, that it would be very sensible to give a Republican majority in Old Centre?

How can an Irishman vote with the Democratic party? In Ireland his countrymen are crying out for protection. The English, on the other hand, advocate Free Trade, especially for America, and the Irishman, in voting with the Democrats, plays directly into England's hand. With one hand he will contribute a dollar to help the Irish cause and with the other he will poll a vote that will injure that cause to the value of many dollars.

NEITHER Bell nor Gray invented the telephone. It grew.

War At Last in the East.

The war in the East of Europe, so long and so inexplicably deferred, if it was to take place at all, has at last apparently begun. King Milan has invaded Bulgaria at the head of the Servian army, the three divisions of which are announced to rendevous at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, with a light-heartedness that seems to beg the question as to the result of the conflict Nevertheless, the despatches report that the roads are more or less blocked with snow, and, if this be the case, the Serbs will be some time in reaching their point of concentration, even if they meet with no other than natural obstacles. The last time the Servian army had an opportunity to show what stuff it was made of it won a great deal of credit for itself, but it was weak in its commissariat and its mobilizing capacity, which are just now of extreme importance to it. This much at least may be said for the Servian military equipment, that the country has spared no pains to make it effective, and that probably it is as effective as the principle of universal military service can make the army of a nation of a little less than 2,000 000 of people.

On the other hand, Bulgaria is, as we have heretofore explained, ill prepared to cope with such a force as Servia can bring against her. She is in many respects merely the creature of greater governments and stronger forces than she herself possesses. Her strength consists rather in considerations of diplomacy than in herself. She has been coddled, instead of being really fortified. Russia seems to have been playing a fast and loose game with her. Is Prince Alexander popular or not? Is the revolution by which Eastern Roumelia was made part of the country still as popular as it was on the morrow of the revolt? Is not the chief distinguishing merit and force of Bulgaria moral and intellectual rather than physical and military, and are the Roberts College graduates from Constantinople, who have had so large a share in its direction since the Turco-Russian war, the men of blood and iron whom the occasion calls for? We very much doubt it, and if they are not, and if the situation is, in other respects, such as it appears to be, Servia will soon be in a position to dictate terms of peace to her growing rival in the peninsula.

Bulgaria's main dependence, at all events, must be upon the great powers And, however the feeling of these may have been interpreted at the beginning of the present trouble, it has for some time now appeared that the three great imperial powers were opposed to her aggrandizement. The more or less manifest interest of the Western nations, England, France and Italy, is to conserve the union recently formed. But they all have much more important concerns of their own to attend to just now, and the aid Bulgaria may expect from them will assuredly be moral merely Our own judgment is that which we expressed more than a month ago when war first really threatened between the two countries now to all appearance actually engaged, namely, that after a short campaign Servia, will obtain the corner of territory which she covets, and which it will probably be necessary to give her unless Bulgaria and Roumelia are to be separated anew.

THE Tariff is to be overhauled at the coming session of Congress. So we learn from the New York World, which learnit from "a high official of the Administration." The members of the Cabinet are all in favor of it, several of them being in favor of free-trade, and the President has been discussing the subject with them. He is also to consult with Mr. Carlisle, and there are assurances that Mr. Randall, who "has been studying the subject all summer," will be in harmony with the rest of the leaders in favor of tariff reform. The meaning of this is "tariff for revenue only," and the friends of protection to American industry will have to be on the alert if they wish to prevent most disastrous results. This avowed determination to alter the tariff to suit the free-traders has only been made public since the New York election. If it had been known last month, Davenport would have been elected instead of Hill. Even if the plan proposed should fail, the business of the country will be greatly disturbed by the struggle of the free-traders to abolish protection.

THERE is but one thing to be borne in mind in nominating a Republican candidate for speaker of the new Congress. He must be a man whose name will re-echo the sentiment of the country—protective tariff, honest coinage, fair election and practical reform in the civil service. And the new Congress will contain lots of such Republicans.

Boston.

The cultured city of the East has become the most sensational community in this country. It has of late furnished one-half of the startling events of the age. Two have but recently occurred. Both of them were in the nature of divorce suits.

There is a married pastor up there, or "down there" as the Yankees say, who, despite his already consummated marital ties, seems to be somewhat of a lady masher. He evidently has stolen the affections of a married lady of his flock, named Mrs. Taber, and their intimacy caused a scandal. The events which followed led to a divorce being applied for by either Mr. or Mrs. Taber and it was granted. The divorce proceedings in court were, while they lasted, a nine days sensation. The minister, Mr. Downes, who was partly the cause of this trouble, is contributing to the varied features of this scandal by his somewhat strained relations to his congregation. The more influential part of the flock refuse to permit him to preach in the church anymore, and at last accounts they had possession of the sacred edifice, forbidding his entrance. Rev. Mr. Downes' course seems to be downward.

The second affects the reputations of a man and his wife who are very wealthy and have moved in the most aristocratic circles. Mr. Loud is a banker who has been married for three or four years. During all that time, it is said, he has shamefully abused his wife; kicking and pinching her, making her stay all night in a bathtub, trying to throw vitriol in her face, etc She was only 17 when married. She then weighed 127 pounds, but trouble has reduced her to 90. She is now of age and sues for divorce, which will probably be granted.

These sensations ought to satisfy Boston for awhile.

ONE of the affectionate thoughts which a Hartford mother, parting with her daughter on her wedding day, delighted to put into form, was the preparation of a box in which, hermetically sealed, were placed various remembrances of the happy occasion. The case was of heavy tin prettily lined, and contained, first the bridal loaf. With this was laid various fanciful bonbons and favors from the refreshment table, some roses worn by the bride, and a piece of her satin dress; also inclosed were photographs of the bride (in her veil and sweeping robes), her new made husband and her father, mother and brother. There were also lists of the witnesses of the ceremony and friends attending the reception. These and many other pleasant souvenirs of the occasion, with a loving letter from her mother, were preserved to be opened to the light on the 25th anniversary of the wedding. There is a world of varied possibilities between now and then for the girl who is leaving home for an untried existence, but what sweet memories will not arise when, in 1910, the beautiful matron (if she lives so long) shall open the sealed case, and, breathing the aroma of the spiced cake and roses, shall read the words penned 25 years before by her mother's hand and show these relics of her wedding day to her children!

Horace B. Claflin.

A great merchant prince died on Saturday. His name was Horace B. Claflin, of the dry goods firm of H. B Claflin & Co., New York. The house, of which he was the head, was known in all parts of the world, and in the city of New York was second only to that of A. T. Stewart in the days of the latter's greatest glory.

Among the Bellefonte merchants who can talk very interestingly of Mr. Claflin is Mr. Sol. Goldsmith, of the Bee Hive stores. He has a high opinion of Mr. Claflin as a business man.

Mr. Claflin was a near friend of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and owned the highest-priced pew in Plymouth church. Rev. Mr. Beecher was in Chicago when he heard of the death of his merchant friend. He was to deliver a lecture that evening in Chicago, but when he appeared on the platform there were tears in his eyes, and he announced that the information of the death of Mr. Claflin had so affected him that he could not deliver the lecture announced, but he did talk feelingly on thoughts which the sad news brought to his mind.

FERDINAND WARD is industriously making stoves in Sing Sing.

IT is safe to say that no country has been the subject of more exagerations than China. The Flowery Kingdom was for so many long centuries closed to the Western world that everything therein was gazed at from a distance which lent wonderful enchantment to the view. Marvelous stories of the country and its people have been in circulation ever since the first Western traveler returned home from China. A fair sample of this exageration is found in an item which has been in circulation to the effect that "a Chinese banker, Han Qua, of Canton, is the wealthiest man in the world. He pays taxes upon $450,000,000, and is estimated to be worth $1,400,000,000." This statement is corrected by a note from Mr. George Francis Train, who writes to the New York Sun: "A guest of old How-qua—not Han Qua—three decades ago at Canton, and later of his sons, I saw his wonderful gardens and beautiful grounds. He was a lifelong friend of Russell & Co., leaving them untold sums. They protected his estate during the opium wars. He was known as a friend of America. He may be worth $50,000,000, certainly not $1,400,000,000." Almost all the stories about China can be subjected to a trimming down at the same ratio as this.

NEWS from Burmah of an interesting kind may now be looked for every day General Prendergrast's invading force is in motion. Ten thousand soldiers, with seven thousand camp-followers, have embarked at Rangoon for the ascent of the Irawaddy river, with the intention of attacking the capital, Mandalay. The navigation of the river is long and difficult, and at various points the invaders are likely to be resisted. The Burmese have but a small regular army, poorly drilled and equipped, and it will be reinforced by a large number of less efficient volunteers. But King Thebaw is preparing for a sturdy resistance and the English reports are that he refused to let Europeans depart from Mandalay and even threatens to massacre them. Any such acts of savagery will be resented by terrible punishment of the King and his followers when the British-Indian force arrives at Mandalay.

THE Watchman seems to be convulsed with a fear that a new element which has recently been introduced into the Republican politics of Centre county will in some way injure or "drive out" the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN. Don't trouble yourself about that, friend Watchman. In the first place, we have no reason to believe that anybody wants to annihilate the REPUBLICAN (unless it be the Democrats), and the REPUBLICAN has not yet felt even the first effects of an annihilating influence, but is booming along with an increased subscription list every week. People would rather do without their dinners than without the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

A CHRISTIAN conference will be held in the Third Presbyterian church, Pittsburg, Pa., Tuesday and Wednesday, November 24th and 25th, 1885. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions. The speakers will be Rev. A. B. Simpson and Dr. John Cookman, New York City, Rev. H. W. Brown, Chicago, Mrs. M. Baxter, London, England, Mrs. E. Stroud Smith, Liverpool, England, Carrie F. Judd, Buffalo, Mrs. S. G. Beck, Philadelphia. All who desire a deeper Spiritual life, a special baptism of the Holy Spirit for service and to understand better the teachings of the Scriptures respecting our physical life in Christ, are invited to attend.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is said to repudiate the assurance given by the new Civil Service Commission that his course in ordering a pass instead of a competitive examination at the Brooklyn Custom-house should not be a precedent. The President evidently sees his opportunity to keep up a nominal compliance with civil service rules and appoint at the same time Democratic workers on their merits as workers, and not as scholars. If this is the case, Cleveland's civil service reform pretensions drop from burlesque to the broadest farce.

MISS MARY ANDERSON'S recent threat that if the American public does not appreciate her efforts she will go back to England, may be interpreted to mean that the New Yorkers have not been prompt to gulp down the plan of charging double prices because the English aristocracy have been pleased to approve of our Mary.

GENERAL NOTES.

Platinum wire may now be drawn so fine as to be invisible to the naked eye.

Birds and birds' heads are now tied with bows upon the bonnets of the cruel fair.

A man with bright purple hair is the observed of all the observers at Cleveland, Ohio.

Sweet violets were plucked in a field with a sunny slope at Andover, Mass., last week.

Old-fashioned lavender has become not only the fashionable but the popular perfume.

The Germans of Chicago are honoring the poet Schiller with a bronze statue costing $2400 on a granite monument that will cost $3685.

There are 256 packs of stag and fox hounds in England and Ireland. The 75 couples constituting the Duke of Beaufort's pack of hounds at Badminton consume about 40 tons of meat, 3 tons of biscuits and 150 horses annually.

The remains of an old colored woman, who died in New Orleans the other day, were followed to the grave by a large number of prominent citizens, ladies and children, representing some of the most distinguished families in Louisiana

A new element has been discovered in nickel ore from Norway. It is malleable, of white color, with a tinge of brown, presenting, when pure, a metallic luster, but oxidizing when exposed to the atmosphere. It is about as hard as copper.

A number of the crazy quilts sent in for exhibition in New York next week are the handiwork of men, who thus become rivals of the opposite sex in the domain of needlework. A number of the ladies interested have protested against this form of competition.

A watchmaker in Newcastle, England, has made a set of three gold shirt studs, in one of which is a watch that keeps correct time. The three studs are connected by a strip of silver inside the shirt bosom, and the watch in the middle one is wound up by turning the stud above, and the hands are set by turning the one below.

European sugar refiners have lately discovered in Central India a forest tree which seems likely to come into general use as a substitute for the cane and the beet. It is called the Maheva, and abounds in Southern Hindeostan. Its blossoms yield an immense amount of juice, which is easily converted into sugar of an excellent quality.

A St. Louis man has a valuable relic of early theatricals in this country, in the form of a play-bill bearing the date 1823, announcing the appearance of five of the Jeffersons in one cast at Washington. The plays were "The Dramatist" and "The Magpie and the Maid." One of the five was the mother of Joseph, of "Rip Van Winkle" fame.

Two vases resembling butterflies have been made by a Boston jeweler The wings are colored and veined so as to simulate the appearance of the insect's wings to perfection. Enamel was used for the eyes, which are as natural as life, and every other part of the insect is complete, even to the bunch of roses upon which they are resting.

The Danish Government has created a medical commission to investigate and report upon the causes of cancer, and particularly the supposed association between the disease and the use of certain sorts of food, the influence of worry, anxiety and a depressed state of health in giving rise to the malady, and the extent to which it is hereditary.

At the recent meeting of a philosophical association in New York the President, Mr. Latimer, read a paper on the "Migration of Races," in which he maintained that the Anglo-Saxons are the remains of the lost tribes of Israel, though he acknowledged the proof of the statement to be a little difficult of comprehension to the ordinary mind.

The great Mexican volcano Popocateptel has just been remeasured and found to to 17,804 feet above the sea. The crater, which is completely obscured within by sulphurous vapor, is about two and one-half miles in circuit and 1,000 feet deep. The entire of the top of the mountain seems to be solid sulphur, which is deposited at the rate of a ton a day.

Some men while fishing in White river, Indiana, one night recently, built a fire, using for a backlog what they thought was a section of a large elm tree. As the fire grew hotter one of the men noticed that "the backlog" kept cracking and finally burst open, or rather transversely across. Investigation revealed the fact that the "backlog" was bone—a huge femur of a mastodon.

"ON THE BRINK."

ALVA GRAY.

To-night there is music and laughter,
And happy abandon and wine;
Think not of the sadness hereafter,
For to-night I am yours, and you mine!
Drink deep to the goddess of passion,
Forget all the hopes that are dead;
Let the joy of the present time fashion
A garland to crown your bright head.

Let the thorns hide themselves 'neath the roses
That blossom to-night on your face,
While your head like a lily reposes
On my breast, as your form I embrace.
One moment! O love, is this sinning?
'Tis the story of Eden one more—
You were mine in Time's early beginning;
You'll be mine when life's revel is o'er.

I think of my wife—and your master—
Of our double lives, soulless and false;
Our hearts throbbing faster and faster,
Keeping time to that passionate waltz;
The music has ceased! We must sever!
The dancers are coming this way;
Would to God I might hold you forever,
'Till the light of eternity's day!

What nectar can rival your kisses?
Dear one! is there language to tell,
What my soul, in its loss of you misses?
Without you e'en Heaven were Hell!
But why should our hearts dream of sorrow?
To-night, banish memory and pain,
Drink deep of the present—to-morrow
Will bring us our bondage again.

To-night there is music and laughter,
Abandon and revel and wine;
We will drink to the unknown hereafter,
For to-night I am yours, and you mine.

ONLY FRIENDS.

Summer's freshness fell around us,
Nature dreamed its sweetest dream,
Every balmy evening found us
By the meadow or the stream,
With our hearts as free from sadness
As the sunshine heaven sends;
Youth's bright garden bloomed in gladness,
Where we wandered—only friends.

Not a word of love was spoken,
No hot blushes flushed in red;
Love's first sleep was left unbroken,
Bitter tears were never shed,
We were young and merry hearted,
Dreaming not of future ends
And without a sigh we parted;
Fate had made us—only friends.

But a little germ of sorrow
Wakened in my heart's recess,
When I wandered on the morrow
By our haunts of happiness.
And this germ found deeper rooting
As the weary days wore on,
Till I felt a blossom shooting
In love's garden all alone.

No kind fate threw us together,
We had missed the lucky tide;
Golden-gilded Summer weather
Not forever doth abide.
But for me, though vainly sighing
For a love time never sends,
Still is left this thought undying,
We, alas! were—only friends.

The Love-Letter.

"So you won't marry Hawkins Jessup," said Squire Bergamot, knitting his black eyebrows together until they formed an ominous black bar across his forehead and nearly frightened his bright-eyed daughter out of her senses.

But Mary Bergamot stood bravely to the guns of her little citadel.

"No, father," said she. "Oh, how can you ask me, father, when you know I don't love him and never can?"

"'Never' is a long word," said the squire.

"Yes, papa, I know that," said Mary. "But, indeed, I mean it."

"You mean it, do you?" said the squire, in slow and measured tones. "Now, let me tell you what! It isn't that you don't like Hawkins Jessup, but that you're goosey enough to go and fall in love with that young idiot George Lake!"

Mary turned very red.

"Papa!"

"There's no use mincing matters," said the irate squire. "An artist, indeed! Why doesn't he go into white-washing and calcimining and earn a decent living?"

"But, papa——"

"Needn't attempt to argue with me, miss!" said Squire Bergamot, sternly. "I'll have none of it, and so I tell you! If George Lake comes into my house he'll be put out of it pretty quick! And so you may tell him."

So saying, the squire strode out of his house.

Mary looked after him with soft, sorrowful eyes. She was a delicate, oval-faced girl, with sunny brown hair, and straight features as unlike the rotund and positive squire's as light to darkness. But, as she put down the iron from which she was "doing up" her father's shirts—Squire Bergamot would have thought it a crying sin to employ a laundress while his daughter enjoyed her ordinary health—she leaned up against the window where the arrow sunbeams came in through the tremulous veil of heart-shaped morning-glory leaves and drew from her pocket a note written in a strong, masculine hand:

My Dearest Mary: I love you. Will you promise to be my wife, spite of all opposition? Will you tell me so with your own lips? Ever yours, faithful to death. GEORGE.

How her eyes glittered as she read and reread the short and simple lines, pressing them finally to her red lips.

"I do love him! I will be his wife!" she murmured. "And I will tell him so the very first opportunity I get. Only papa!"

A momentary cloud stole over her serene brow at this, but it was transient.

"I don't believe in elopements," said Mary Bergamot, still riveting her eyes on the sheet of paper in her hand. "I never did. But if papa still persists in opposing our marriage I will leave my home and go out into the world hand in hand with George."

Just as this revolutionary thought passed through her mind the door creaked on its hinges. A heavy, well-known footstep sounded on the threshhold.

"It's papa!" cried Mary.

In her consternation our poor little heroine could not find the entrance to pocket in the multitudinous folds of her dress. For a second she was in imminent danger of detection; then she hurriedly thrust the incendiary document into the yawning mouth of a paper-bag of choice seed corn which hung by the kitchen window. At the next instant Squire Bergamot was in the room.

"Mary," said he, "go up stairs to the left hand corner of my middle bureau-drawer and get me a clean pocket handkerchief."

And Mary went out with a dubious glance at the nail on which the bag of "early sugar corn" hung.

When she returned the room was empty and Squire Bergamot was just climbing up into his lumber-box wagon in front of the picket fence.

"Bring it out here," said the squire. "I'm going over to Miss Polly Pepper's to get my empty cider cask. She might a had the sence to return it herself!"

He stowed the pocket-handkerchief away in his pocket and was just taking up the reins, when Mary rushed out again, crimson to the very roots of her hair.

"Father, that bag of seed-corn."

"Oh, it's all right—it's all right," said the squire placidly. "I promised a little to Miss Polly Pepper, and this is already shelled."

"But, father," gasped poor Mary, "let me tie it up first."

"Nonesense!" said the squire. "I jest folded it over the top and it'll go as snug as a thief in a mill, right-a-top of my bags of meal."

Away he rattled over the stony road as he spoke, and poor Mary ran back into the kitchen to cry herself into a second Niobe.

"Oh, my letter, my letter!" sobbed she; "why was I such an idiot as to put it there?"

* * * * * *

Miss Polly Pepper, a gaunt spinster, of a very uncertain age, and a very certain infirmity of temper, opened the bag of seed-corn as the squire drove off.

"Might a-brought it before," said she. "Promised it to us last fall. I do despise these folks that are always putting off things. Mercy upon us! what's this?" as she drew out the note; "some receipt that that shiftless Mary tucked away there to get it out of the way? No, it ain't. It's a love-letter!—and to me!—'My dearest Mary'—and signed 'George.' George Washington Bergamot, that's his name. Well, I do declare! Ain't he far gone? 'All opposition.' I s'pose he means Mary and my two brothers-in-law that think a woman over 40 hain't no business to marry? But I'll see 'em furder afore I'll let e'm overturn my matrimonial prospects—see if I don't! 'Tell him with my own lips.' Of course I will! I'll go right over there at once. Delay is dangerous! And if he really is in such a hurry——"

Miss Polly's fingers trembled as she took her little cork-screw curls out of their papers and pinned on a fresh collar tied by a blue ribbon.

"Blue's the color of love," said she to herself with a simper, "and it was so romantic of my dear George to think of proposing in a bag of seed corn."

The squire was at his supper when Miss Pepper walked in, flushed with her long expedition on foot.

"Set down and have a bite won't you?" said the squire. Mary, fetch a clean plate."

Miss Pepper took advantage of the momentary absence of her step-daughter-elect to proceed directly to business.

"George," cried she almost hysterically "I am yours!"

"Eh?" said the squire.

"Forever and ever!" said Miss Pepper, flinging herself upon the collar of his coat.

"Are you crazy?" said the squire, jumping up.

"You asked me to be your wife," said Miss Polly, meltingly.

"I didn't?" said the squire.

"Then what does this letter mean? Eh!" demanded Miss Polly. "It's a clear a declaration of love as ever was writ. And good ground to sue on."

The squire stared at the sheet of paper as Miss Pepper waved it triumphantly over his head.

"But I didn't write it," gasped he.

"Then who did?" demanded Miss Pepper.

Just at this moment Mary, entering with fresh tea and a clean plate, caught sight of the letter.

"It's mine," she cried with a sudden dyeing of the cheek and glitter of the eyes. "My letter! How dared you read it, Miss Pepper?"

"I got it out of the bag of seed-corn," protested the spinster.

"And I put it there for safe-keeping," blushingly acknowledged Mary Bergamot.

"Who wrote it?" sternly demanded the Squire.

And Mary confessed:

"George Lake, papa!"

Miss Pepper went home crying bitterly with mortified pride and disappointed expectations. And the squire came to the conclusion that true love would have its way in spite of all dissenting parents.

"Papa," said Mary, "may I have George?"

"I don't care," said the Squire.

And that in his case, passed for an affirmation. But the squire remains a widower still, and Miss Pepper's chances grow "smaller by degrees and beautifully less."

Type-Setting in Japan.

The advantages of alphabetic writing are nowhere more conspicuously shown than in a large printing office. The compositor stands within easy reach of every character he may have need of and a boy can learn the position of each in the case in a few hours. It is quite another matter where each word has a distinct character, as in China or Japan. A correspondent, describing the office of a Japanese paper, says that a full font of Japanese type comprises 7,000 characters, of which 3,000 are in constant use, and for 2,000 more there are frequent calls. The type is disposed about the composing-room in racks, like those in reading room, and the compositors wander up and down the aisles, setting type and taking exercise at once. With so many characters it is no wonder that Japanese proof-readers have to be men of intelligence and high scholarship. The impossibility of telegraphing single character words has kept this great instrument of civilization in foreign hands, and made it practically useless for the natives of China and Japan. To these the telephone is an especial blessing which they are not slow to appreciate.

It is learned that there are 8,000,000 piano players in the United States and they can elect any man President that they unite on. This is terrible.

Jones' Grief.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Young Augustus de Jones and Miss Clara Brussels never speak any more as they pass by. A few weeks ago the world look bright to the young people. Augustus loved Clara and Clara loved Augustus. The young man admired the old man Brussels, respected old Mrs. Brussels, and was on intimate terms with the house dog. A few days ago the young man received an invitation to go with the family on a nutting expedition, which he promptly accepted. The roomy old family carriage was comfortably filled, with Mr. and Mrs. Brussels on the front seat and Augustus and his darling on the back one. The day was a delicious one, with the warm, mellow glow of the Indian summer air bringing a delicious languor to the soul. Arriving on the ground, they soon found there were plenty of nuts, but how to get them was the question. Clubs were procured, however, and the work of pelting the nuts from the trees commenced. The first attempt of young Augustus was a success. He drew back to throw and took Mrs. Brussels under the chin with such force as to draw an agonizing shriek from the old lady. Finally all the clubs were lodged in the trees and it was decided that it was necessary to climb the monarchs of the forests if any nuts were to be procured. Of course this meant work for Augustus. He avowed a willingness to try and was so bewildered by a thankful glance from Clara's blue eyes that he promptly commenced the ascent of a black oak under the impression that it was a hickory.

"That young man will do some mischief yet," said old Mrs. Brussels, who was still indignant.

And then Augustus attempted the explanation that he had intended climbing the oak and then jumping over from there on the hickory, which, as the limbs were about forty feet apart, would have been a very heroic feat indeed. The young man finally succeeded in reaching one of the branches of a hickory and dislodging a few consumptive looking nuts, one of which took Clara on the tip of her angelic nose, just as she looked up to see Augustus, retiring in short order. The old man laid down on the grass and roared, when, just as he turned over one of the heaviest clubs that had lodged in the branches took him across his mouth, knocking out two of his teeth changing his laugh to a roar of anguish.

"I knew he would dosome mischief," shrieked the old woman, rushing to the relief of her husband and gazing reproachfully up in the tree just in time to receive a big hickory in the eye.

"Clara," shouted the old man, "lead up the horse and let us go home and leave that infernal young fool up in a tree."

Clara with a heart swelling with indignation toward her lover, did as she was bid, when, just as the old horse came under the tree, poor Augustus, who knew nothing of the damage he was doing, rained down a perfect avalanche of clubs and hickory nuts and started the old horse on a run.

"Got all you want down there?" cheerfully shouted young Augustus from the upper branches.

"Come down, you confounded idiot, and see!" shouted old man Brussels with a gleam of war in his eye.

"What's the matter?" asked the bewildered young man, as he reached the ground. Old man Brussels started towards him, but was held by the women folks, who briefly and sternly explained the situation to him in such a way as to let him know that all was at an end.

"Mr. De Jones," said Clara, as he turned away to hunt his coat (and ah how the words sounded after being so tenderly called "dear Augustus!") "you are about to lose your handkerchief."

But poor Augustus well knew that his handkerchief was in his coat pocket, and Clara would have known better had not her eyes been swollen with pain.

* * * * *

Clara now has young Smith for her steady company. The new gallant laughed heartily when told of De Jones' misfortunes. "He doesn't understand cutting, Clara," said he. "I will go to the woods to-morrow and bring you all you want." He accomplished the feat by hiring a buggy and buying a bushel for a dollar of a farmer's boy.

A Canine Mail Carrier.

"If all the mail service was as promptly and faithfully performed as the dog route between Calico and Bismarck there would be nothing left to complain of," remarked Post Office Inspector Tracy.

"Dog route?" Do you mean that a dog carries the mails there?" asked the reporter.

"Certainly, did you never hear of the dog 'Dorsey?' No? Well, Dorsey is the regular mail-carrier between the post-office at Calico, San Bernardino county, and the Bismarck mining camp, three or four miles over the mountains. Calico is a stage station and has a post office, but Bismarck is neither, and, as the three or four miles between them are the kind of miles peculiar to mining districts, it was a great inconvenience for the Bismarck people to get their letters. The country between the two places is rough and steep and the weather most of the year pretty hot, which made it considerable of a task for a Bismarck miner to get his mail from Calico. This was the condition of affairs when the genius of the dog Dorsey was developed. Dorsey belongs to the Postmaster at Calico and was not regarded in the highest favor in his youth, as it was not early discovered for what purpose he was put into the world. Dorsey is a black and white colley, with intelligent eyes, shaggy coat and pointed nose, yet he was thought to be a good deal of a loafer. One day the postmaster wanted to get word to his brother up at Bismarck. He did not want to make the trip himself and no one else offered to make it for him. It suddenly occurred to him to try Dorsey. A letter was conspicuously tied around the dog's neck, his nose pointed toward Bismarck and he was told to 'git.' He trotted off a little way and then turned around inquiringly, but was met with a volley of stones thrown by some small boys anxious to teach Dorsey's young ideas how to shoot. The colley took the advice and trotted off in a business-like manner. The next day he came back with an answering letter tied around his neck and showed signs of having been well treated at the other end of the route. The experiment was repeated each time successfully, and each time Dorsey assumed an air of greater dignity. The news of his success was of course the talk of both camps, and the postmaster received many requests from miners at Bismarck to send their letters over the next time Dorsey made a trip. The result was that pretty soon Dorsey had more letters to carry than could be conveniently fastened to him. The miners then ordered a handsome little mail-bag made and fitted to the dog's shoulders. The bag is fastened by two straps, one around his chest and one under his body just back of his fore legs. When the mail-bag was finished and supplied with the regulation brass lock Dorsey was formerly installed as mail carrier between the two points. Every day, just about the time the stage is due, Dorsey wakes up from his nap, stretches himself and walks into the Post-Office. When the stage has arrived and the Bismarck letters have been put into Dorsey's mail bag, the Postmaster says: 'The mail is ready,' and Dorsey soberly walks up to have the bag fastened on. Then he starts off on a little trail which he has worn for himself over the hills. If he meets a stranger he makes a long detour, for he knows that he is engaged on important business and don't want to run any risk of having trouble. He stays in Bismarck over night and returns with the mail the next day in time for the outgoing stage. He has never missed a connection, lost a letter or been behind time. He is immensely popular with the miners, whose mail he carries so faithfully, and every evening at Bismarck the miners order an extra beefsteak for the canine carrier. I think they would lynch anyone who harmed Dorsey. They have had his photograph taken; here it is.

Mr. Tracy showed the reporter the photograph of the intelligent-looking colley wearing his mail bag, and standing with his fore feet on a block, his countenance radiating a large, comprehensive smile, possibly begotten of the fact that no one could deprive him of his daily beefsteak on the ground that he is an offensive partisan.

A Brakeman up in Aristotle.

Chicago Herald.

One drummer held in his hand an unlighted cigar. Another drummer asked that the cigar be given him.

"I will," was the reply, "if you will first tell me correctly what is to become of it."

"All right. I predict that you will not give it to me."

"Now, see how stupid you are. If I should give it to you your prediction would be false. And your prediction being false, according to our agreement I keep the cigar."

"But, stay there," replied the other; "if you keep the cigar my prediction is true and it must be mine. My prediction cannot be proven false unless you give me the cigar."

"You have lots of gall to think you can get something for nothing."

"You have lots of nerve to stand up here and refuse to carry out your agreement."

"You're a liar."

"You're another."

"You——"

"You——"

"Here," cried the brakeman, "no fighting here. What is the row about?"

The case was duly stated to the brakeman. That individual scratched his head, wiped the soot and perspiration from his lip with his glove-hand, and after great deliberation exclaimed:

"Give me the cigar."

The cigar was handed him.

"This is a very interesting case," he said. "It reminds me of the syllogisms of Zeno, which we used to study at the round house on the problem of cause and effect illustrated by the example of two double-header freight trains trying to pass each other on the same track or the similar but more abstract problem of what is the result when the irresistible force comes in contact with an immovable body. But, gentlemen, as old Aristotle used to say—oh, have you got a knife about your clothes?"

Drummer No. 1 produced a knife, and with it the brakeman cut off the end of the cigar.

"As Aristotle used to say, that is a reductio ad absurdum—a good two and-two-make-five case. But as Plato observed in his work on color-blindness and boiled frogs, the impossible is possible only with the possible and—by the way, have you got a match about your clothes?"

Drummer No. 2 produced a match.

"And now," continued the brakeman, addressing No. 1, "you promised to give this cigar to No. 2 if he would correctly guess what would become of it."

"Yes."

"And now, you other fellow, you think the cigar is yours because you correctly guessed what this man would do with it."

"Yes."

"But if he should give the cigar to you, then your guess would be a false one, and, according to the contract the cigar would not be yours."

"Yes."

"Now you see, gentleman, that the cigar belongs to neither of you. I think [puff, puff]—I think it is [puff, puff] a good cigar. Good day, gentlemen, and if you have any more syllogisms to quarrel over please let the stakes be a house and lot or a diamond ring, and I'll be glad to settle the dispute for you."

And as the two drummers looked at each other out of the corners of their eyes the brakeman walked proudly away, exclaiming:

"Smartville! The next stop is Smartville!"

Remarkable Phenomena.

Nature.

At about midnight on July 29 a remarkable phenomenon was seen at Jonkoping, Sweden, over Lake Wettern. A strong luminosity was suddenly shown in the north where some very peculiar clouds—looking like icebergs—were seen almost to touch the water. From these clouds electrical discharges continually proceeded, imparting to them a bluish, phosphorescent light, somewhat ruddy near the water and intensely yellow at their sides. It seemed like a constant discharge of fir works from the lake. It was remarkable that the light—as is generally the case with an electrical discharge in the atmosphere—did not assume the form of bunches of streamers, but at one time flared up intensely and at other times formed narrow bands across the clouds. Above the latter there was a faint bluish reflection. The lake lay as calm as a mirror, and though an optical illusion was uncommon in these parts, the western shore seemed close to the town, while the eastern disappeared in the clouds. Except the electricity-laden clouds in the north the sky, was clear, stars shone, and the full moon was bright. Below the latter the sky seemed faintly red, compared with intense electric light. At Katrineholm the same phenomenon was seen in the northeast. Here an intense glare was seen above a cloud, assuming the appearance of two gigantic lustrous trees, which remained thus for half an hour, when it changed into a variety of forms. There was no noise accompanying the phenomenon, which lasted in both places for about an hour. It is not probable that the phenomenon could have been of the brightness under a full moon.

All Sorts.

A German statistician has discovered that there are 1,000,000 blind persons in the world, not counting, of course, those in love.

Ah, ha! Another faster! A man in Ohio has gone twenty-eight days without eating anything. The name of the paper he is editing is not stated.

A Burlington girl, in a fit of abstraction picked up a copy of "Kismet," scratched out the "t," and handed the book to her lover. He caught on.

The conviction of Stead is a great victory for the English aristocracy. It shows that no man can assail the vices of the rich and powerful with impunity.

Minneapolis is now ahead of St. Louis in population; that of the latter, according to a census just made, being 111,399, while the Minneapolis people number 129,200.

A Boston man was taken ill out West. When asked if he wanted anything, he said: "Oh, give me anything made of beans." So the attending physician gave him castor oil.

"Have you ridden much of late?" asked Spook of Babster's bright boy, who is learning to ride the bicycle. "Oh, yes, off and on," replied young Babster, with a wicked smile.

Brown—"So you didn't get elected, Fogg. You should have been more active and got all your friends to go to the polls." Fogg—"So I did, Brown; but, confound them! they all voted for the other fellow."

"And Uncle John Sherman goes back to the Senate. He has captured the Ohio Legislature." What a capturing lot these Shermans are, anyway. They have so much nearness—an they brush things up so thoroughly.

"Why are two buttons put on the back of a man's coat?" asks a writer. They are put on for the same reason that about 250 buttons on the front of a woman's dress—and of course everybody knows why a lady's dress is thus garnished.

"Has any one ever proposed to you before?" he asked tenderly, after the important question had been put and satisfactorily answered. "George Simpson came very near it only last night," she replied shyly. "He was just on the point of asking me to be his wife when mamma came into the parlor. But I am very glad she did," went on the girl earnestly. "I don't think I would have been happy with George."

Hazing.

PRINCETON, Nov. 12.—The Board of Trustees of Princeton College at their stated meeting to-day approved the stringent action of the faculty in reference to hazing and also adopted the following preamble and resolutions: "To enable the trustees to deliberately consider the best measures to be adopted to put an end to the detestable practice of hazing in the college, resolved, that a committee of five be appointed to report to an adjourned meeting of the board such rules and measures as may be deemed necessary to accomplish this desirable end." Many other questions of importance were considered, especially the one as to whether the Yale-Princeton foot-ball game shall be played on the Polo Grounds or in New Haven, but nothing can be learned at present as to the results arrived at.

Strikers Prove Turbulent.

CHICAGO, November 13.—General Superintendent Jeffrey, of Illinois Central railway, said to-day that if the strikers would be reasonable in their demands he should at once put on new hands and start trains, under police protection. The strikers scoff at the idea of the company being able to do this and threaten trouble should any attempt be made. Shortly after 1 o'clock a freight train, manned by Assistant Superintendent Seymour and other officers and consisting of thirty-seven cars, loaded with freight for other points, was started from the yards. It had not proceeded far when it was boarded by a number of strikers, who took complete possession of it and ran it on a side track about a mile from the yard.

Balloons.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—General Russell Thayer, of Philadelphia, read a paper upon "Dirigible Balloons for War Purposes" before a session of the Military Service Institution on Governor's Island to-day. He said fear of ridicule had prevented development of the science of aerial navigation, but that an easily controllable speed of twenty miles an hour would not be a strange development in the future.

Baiting Alligators.

We went out to a Mississippi swamp accompanied by several negroes, and as the colonel had promised two bits to the first black man who should sight an alligator, there was a feeling of rivalry among them. The day was awful hot, and though alligators were as plenty as frogs, we beat around for an hour without getting sight of one. It was their hour for sleep. As we finally gathered on a long spit of sand which projected out into the bayou for two hundred feet the colonel called up one of the blacks:

"Come, Moses, if you'll swim for it I'll make the prize half a dollar."

"Sure I won't be cotched, massa?"

"Oh, there's no danger. Here are five rifles to protect you."

The negro went half-way down the spit, and then had deep, dark water on each side of him. He closely scanned the surface in all directions, and then speedily disrobed and plunged in with a great splash.

"He's baiting 'em," whispered the colonel.

"But suppose one of the reptiles seizes him?"

"Then I'll give the money to his widow."

The black swam out about thirty feet, kicking and splashing, and we walked slowly down the spit. All of a sudden he screamed out and turned for the shore, and as we looked we saw from ten to fifteen great saurians making a bee line for him from as many different directions. Everybody opened fire, and the reports of rifles, the yells of the swimmer, and the shouts of the other blacks made an exciting scene. Two of us took a big alligator which was directly in the man's wake, and, though we fired ten or twelve shots at his snout at close range, he was within three feet of the negro when the swimmer was pulled out. He ran his fore feet on the bank, opened his mouth like a barn door, and as he snapped his jaws together a piece of stick or tooth flew clear over our heads. The five of us kept firing away, but he turned and sailed off as if the bullets were so many peas.

"How did you feel?" I asked of the swimmer when he had dressed.

"Didn't have no feelings 'tall, sah," he replied. "It was jist like my arms an' legs war' trying to swim a piece of ice back yere."—Detroit Free Press.

A San Francisco Millionaire's Daughter.

Jennie Flood, daughter of the millionaire, was not so great a loss to "Buck" Grant after all, if, as we are told, she refused his proffered attention. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says of her:

She is not a young woman who would be sought for her charms of mind or face. She looks like a well-settled matron of 40, having a large, full, fat face, with heavy features, and she adds to her mature appearance by brushing her hair straight back from her face, and doing it up in the simple and severely plain style affected by housewives of 30 years ago. When she appears at parties or the opera in full dress, she is even homelier than in street dress, as decollete dress and light colors do not harmonize with her sanguine complexion and over-full figure. She has $2,000,000 in her own right, but she is said to be penurious in her tastes and to look closely after every dollar that she spends. Her selfish character is very plainly betrayed by her action at the last season's Italian opera, when Patti and Scalchi created so great a furor here. Miss Jennie occupied a conspicuous position every night in the front of a proscenium box; she wore a different costume nightly, and she always carried a huge bouquet as large around as the bottom of a bucket. This she displayed throughout the evening as a sort of foil to her blazing diamonds, but no lyric flights of Diva Patti, and no soul-stirring strands of Scalchi's noble voice moved her cold nature to throw her bouquet as a tribute to genius.

What a Baby Can Do.

It can wear out a $1 pair of kid shoes in twenty-four hours.

It can keep its father busy advertising in the newspaper for a nurse.

It can occupy both sides of the largest-sized bed manufactured simultaneously.

It can cause its father to be insulted by every second-class boarding-house keeper in the city who "never take children," which in nine cases out of ten is very fortunate for the children.

It can make itself look like a fiend just when mamma wants to know "what a pretty baby she has."

It can make an old bachelor in the room adjoining use language that, if uttered on the street, would get him to the penitentiary for two years.

It can go from the furthest end of the room to the foot of the stairs in the hall adjoining quicker than its mother can just step into the closet and out again.

It can go to sleep "like a little angel," and just as mamma and papa are starting for the theatre it can wake up and stay awake until the last act.

These are some things that a baby can do. But there are other things as well. A baby can make the commonest home the brightest spot on earth. It can lighten the burdens of a loving mother's life by adding to them. It can flatten its dirty little face against the window pane in such a way that the tired father can see it as a picture before he rounds the corner. Yes, babies are great institutions, particularly one's own baby.—Newman (N. Y.) Independent.

In a Hencoop.

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Hannah Dickens, 87 years of age, the widow of three husbands, has been found living in a hencoop in the suburbs, supporting herself on $1 a week, which she gets from a United States pension. She was formerly an expert needle woman and lived in good circumstances, until she fractured her right wrist a few years ago, crippling her so much that she has not held a needle since. A short time ago the school children found her out and made up a purse for her.

GALVESTON, Texas, November 13—3.15 a. m.—A destructive fire is now raging in the eastern part of the city, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets The fire broke out at 1.40 a. m. in a small foundry on the north side of Strand St., near the corner of Sixteenth. The flames rapidly spread under a stiff north wind and the prospects are that Galveston is about to suffer a great loss. Six dwelling houses are already burned, and immense clouds of sparks are carried four or five squares over the roofs of wooden houses. The entire fire department is on the ground, but they seem paralyzed, and unable to fight the flames because of the fierce wind and suffocating smoke.

3.45 a. m.—The fire has at this hour spread over seven blocks, and has become a great conflagration. Fully fifty dwellings are burning fiercely, and the path of the fire as it progresses southward is filled with the finest residence in the city, but all are wooden. for five squares south the fire was confined to the width of one square between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, but when it crossed Winnie street, six square from the starting point, it jumped diagonally to the southeast into the next block, and gives evidence of consuming one-third of the city.

7 a. m.—The fire is still burning fiercely. It is now about four blocks from the beach, and is raging on Avenue N; it is still spreading on both sides and has cut a swathe of six blocks There is great distress, and hundreds of families will lose everything.

9:10 a. m.—The fire has now reached within three blocks of the beach and still spreading its path for that spot. The efforts of the firemen seem powerless.

At 11 20 a. m. the fire reached the beach, and was then one and a half miles in length and from six to seven blocks in width. Over seven hundred residences have already been burned and the fire is still burning fiercely, defying all efforts of the firemen to control it. All sorts of rumors are afloat concerning the loss and range up as high as four million dollars.

NOTES.

At Avenue I the fire fiend reveled in the stateliest mansions of the city. One of the finest of these splendid houses to succumb was that of Mrs. Mogale, a forty thousand dollar edifice Then in rapid succession went the residences of Julius Rungee, of the house of Kaufmann & Rungee; Leon Blum, of L. & H. Blum; Moritz Lasker; H. Feltman, of Feltman & Grumbach; George Zealy, President of the Santa Fee Railway; Green Duffield's new mansion; R. F. George's $60,000 residence; Thos. Grogan, and three hundred others of lesser value these names represent a loss of from $40,000 to $70,000 each, but all are insured

The business portion of the city was not touched, but in the burned district there were twenty groceries, saloons and small stores. The chief of these were the stores of Cross & Co., grocers; A Werner, tinner, and J. A. Hammer, lumber merchant. They lost everything as did also the other small stores. As the fire swept past the county jail the forty imprisoned inmates became nearly frantic with fear. They set up a yell which was heard for squares above the awful roar of the terrible fire.

On top of the jail and court house were corps of strong men, determined to save the building, and with the aid of brick walls succeeded. The jail was on fire a dozen of times, but was luckily saved. When the fire started the gale was blowing at the rate of thirty miles an hour. At 2 o'clock the velocity of the gale in the vicinity was sixty miles per hour, and this velocity was maintained until near six o'clock, when the fire gave signs of exhaustion and the cyclonic vacuum seemed broken.

The fire swirled through its path as though it were a gigantic funnel and for two squares on either side the heat was suffocating, the clouds of cinders blinding the fire department, which had become utterly helpless, while the water works gave poor satisfaction. The only public building consumed was the Second district school building, a frame structure which was built recently at a cost of $20,000.

Dip one end of a Sponge in Water and the whole will soon be saturated. So a disease in one part of the body affects other parts. You have noticed this yourself. Kidney and liver troubles, unless checked, will induce constipation, piles, rheumatism and gravel. A timely use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will prevent these results. It is pleasant to the taste and may be taken freely by children and delicate females. It gives elasticity, life and cheeks with roses on them.

Coffey Convicted

PITTSBURG No 13.—Edward Coffey, who shot and killed Policeman John Evans on the 4th of last August while resisting arrest, was convicted this morning of murder in the first degree. The trial was watched with unusual interest and the verdict gives general satisfaction.

Medical, Etc.

Only Temperance Bitters Known.

No other medicine known so effectually purges the blood of deep-seated diseases.

Millions bear testimony to its wonderful curative effects.

It is a purely Vegetable Preparation, made from the native herbs and roots of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol.

It removes the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health.

It is the great Blood Purifier and Life-giving Principle; a Gentle Purgative and Tonic; a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the power of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to.

The Alterative, Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Anti-Bilious, Solvent, Diuretic and Tonic properties of VINEGAR BITTERS exceed those of any other medicine in the world.

No person can take the BITTERS according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Bilious, Remittent, Intermittent and Malarial Fevers, are prevalent throughout the United States, particularly in the valleys of our great rivers and their vast tributaries during the Summer and Autumn, especially during seasons of unusual heat and dryness.

These Fevers are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these organs, is absolutely necessary.

There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as it will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed.

It Invigorates the Stomach and stimulates the torpid Liver and Bowels, cleansing the blood of all impurities, imparting life and vigor to the frame, and carrying off without the aid of Calomel, or other minerals, all poisonous matter from the system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Pneumonia, Dizziness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are at once relieved by VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, the Bitters have no equal. In these, as in all constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS has shown its great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to Paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take occasional doses of VINEGAR BITTERS.

Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Swellings, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations, Humors and diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of the Bitters.

Pin, Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like VINEGAR BITTERS.

Measles, Scarlet Fever, Mumps, Whooping Cough, and all children's diseases may be made less severe by keeping the bowels open with mild doses of the bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, this Bitters has no equal.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood when its impurities burst through the skin in Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when, and the health of the system will follow.

In conclusion: Give the Bitters a trial. It will speak for itself. One bottle is a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Around each bottle are full directions printed in different languages.

Riel Hanged.

REGINA, N. W. T., Nov. 16.—After the departure of his visitors, yesterday, Riel was left in the sole companionship of his spiritual advisor, who performed masses for him during the early portion of the night. The condemned man then laid down and appeared to sleep soundly, but awoke at an early hour this morning and resumed his devotions. The same extraordinary precaution against the possible escape of Riel or the intrusion into the barracks by unauthorized persons, was observed again this morning At a mile from the barracks mounted patrols challenged all persons and compelled them to disclose written passes, while two other lines of guards were stationed at points nearer the post, where the same precautions were again observed.

No one was permitted to enter the guard-room until 8.12 o'clock. The scene presented then was that of Riel on the scaffold, with Pere Andre and Father McWilliams with him, celebrating mass. Riel was on his bended knee, wearing a loose woolen surtout, gray trousers and a woolen shirt. On his feet were moccasins—the only feature of his dress that partook of the Indian that was in him. He received the notice to proceed to the scaffold in the same composed manner shown the preceding night on receiving the warning of his fate. His face was full of color, and he appeared to have complete self-possession, responding to the service in a clear tone. The prisoner decided only a moment before starting for the scaffold not to make a speech. This was owing to the earnest solicitation of both the priests attending him. He displayed an inclination at the last moment to make an address, but Pere Andre reminded him of his promise, and he then arose and walked toward the executioner, repeating his prayers to the last moment, the final words escaping him being "Merci Jesu!" Precisely at 8.23 o'clock, mountain time, the fatal trap was sprung, and Louis David Riel had paid the penalty for high treason against the queen of Great Britain. He died without a struggle. Not to exceed twenty persons were permitted within the confines of the barracks to witness the execution, and it was certainly performed with decorum and dispatch. The body was taken in charge by the coroner and the verdict usual to all state executions was rendered.

QUEBEC, Nov. 16.—The excitement here over the hanging of Riel is almost beyond all restraint. A flag was hoisted at half mast upon the Canadian office and some English speaking citizens who felt aggrieved at this came very near being roughly handled. Flags decked with mourning emblems are also displayed and many men have crape on their hats and around their coat sleeves. To-night two or three hundred students with their friends have been marching through the streets shouting "Glory to Riel" and cursing the Orangemen.

Hand bills have been distributed to all passers-by, calling on them to meet to-night. These bills are headed in large letters and read as follows: Riel hanged. L'Infanie Consomme. The triumph of Orangemen over Catholics and French Canadians. There will be this evening at Jacques Carter Market Place a meeting of all the French Canadians of the city of Quebec to protest against the terrible murder committed this morning by Sir John MacDonald, Sir Hector Jongevin, Sir A. R. Carron and Hon. Mr. Chapleau. Let everyone of you be at your post to-night."

Servian Successes.

BELGRADE, Nov. 17.—General Topitavoitch, with the Moraia division had a desperate battle with the Bulgarians at Irn, and the latter were totally defeated The Servians fought with great gallantry and captured two guns and many prisoners. Three battalions of Bulgarians surrendered. A battalion of Bulgarian volunteers stationed at a point on the Timok river capitulated without firing a gun to Colonel Djukinitsch, commanding the Servian Timok division. The Bulgarians yesterday evacuated the fortified position at Dragoman, which the Servians attacked on Sunday.

Details of the capture of Dragoman Pass by the Servians show that the Drina and Shumadga divisions, under Colonels Michkovitich and Benecky, were engaged, and attacked the Bulgarians in force, completely routing them. Hordes of Bulgarians laid down their arms, being panic stricken. Several guns were captured and the pass has been completely abandoned, leaving the road to Sofia open.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Rumors are freely circulated in commercials here to-day, that Austria is mobilizing her troops On the course prices are flat owing to these and other reports of political complications in the east.

VIENNA, Nov 17.—A dispatch just received from Widin reports a desperate fight as having occurred this morning near that place between a large force of Servians and Bulgarians, in which the latter were completely defeated with a heavy loss. The Servians took 1,000 prisoners.

Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The president to-day appointed William F. Harrity to be postmaster at Philadelphia, vice H. S. Huidekoper, suspended. He also to-day appointed John H. Campbell to be surveyor of customs for the port of Philadelphia and the secretary of the treasury appointed William D. Kendrick to be shipping commissioner at the port of Philadelphia, vice James A. O'Brien, removed. The president also to-day appointed Richard H. Arbuckle to be collector of customs for the district of Erie, Pa.

The First Battle.

BELGRADE, Nov. 14.—Servian troops have captured Trin and occupied the heights.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The following dispatches have been received from the scene of hostilities:

It is officially announced that a force of Bulgarians on Thursday attacked a body of Servians near Vlasina. The Servians returned the fire. Ten Bulgarians, killed or wounded, were left on Servian territory. Several of the Servians were wounded. In consequence of the attack of the Bulgarians the cabinet on Friday decided to declare war.

The Servian army is marching in three directions on Sofia. General Horvatovitch commands the left wing, General Leshyania the right and King Milan the centre. The whole force is expected to concentrate at Sofia on November 22. The roads are covered with snow, retarding the progress of the army.

The Servian army crossed the Bulgarian frontier at 1 o'clock this morning in three divisions at Tzaribrod, Klisura and Bregova. They met with no resistance in crossing. Sharp fighting occurred at Trin, in the Veasina road, and at Kustendji. Many were killed and wounded on both sides. The Bulgarians retreated at all points. The whole Servian army is now in Bulgarian territory. The Servian division marching from Pirot direct on Sofia will probably have the first decisive battle of the war early to-morrow, when they are expected to reach the difficult and rocky gorge of the Dragoman Defile, where a number of Bulgarian battalions have been concentrated, and where a stand may be made.

The following has been issued by the Bulgarian government: "The Servians have invaded Bulgaria to-day near Tsaribrod before declaring war. Bulgaria has decided to uphold the national cause by all the means at her disposal." Intense excitement prevails in Sofia. Active preparations are being made to defend the city. A number of heavy guns are being mounted in available positions commanding the different roads leading to the city. In Philippopolis the greatest enthusiasm exists and troops are being hurried a fast as possible to Sofia to aid in the defense of the Bulgarian capital.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15.—Russian newspapers, both official and unofficial, unite in condemning the fratricidal Servo-Bulgarian war, and declare that Russia will be unable to sit quietly while Bulgaria and Servia tear each other to pieces.

LONDON, November 15.—Six battalions of Servian infantry, two batteries of artillery, and two squadrons of cavalry today attacked two battalions of regular and irregular Bulgarian troops. The Bulgarians lost thirty-four killed and wounded. The Servian troops under Colonel Michkovitch have occupied Tsaribrod, sustaining a small loss. Fifty Bulgarians were captured and sent to a fortress at Belgrade.

Three Italians Executed.

CHICAGO, November 14.—Gilardo, Assessero and Sylvestri, the three Italian murderers of Fillipo Caruso, their fellow countrymen, were hung here at 12:10 o'clock to-day. They met death without a sign of breaking down. At 11:45 o'clock their devotions were interrupted by a messenger who came to announce that the time had arrived in which to say their final farewells and prepare for the next world. The three men had passed the early hours of the morning in the jail library. They received holy communion at the hands of Father Moretti, who engaged them from that time forward in pious conversation. They made their preparations to quit the library with cheerful alacrity.

The door was thrown open an instant later and the sheriff emerged therefrom followed by the jailer, the condemned men, Father Moretti and two other parties. The procession was only a few moments in reaching the gallows. On the scaffold the naturally swarthy faces of the murderers were blanched, Sylvestri's especially being ashen. He seemed to be more nervous than the others. Assessero and Gilardo apparently had their thoughts fixed on eternity. They kept their heads bent, and their lips moved in silent prayer.

At 12:10 the signal was given, the drop was sprung, and the murderers were dangling at the ropes' ends. Sylvestri's and Gilardo's necks were broken by the fall, and they died without a struggle, but the noose slipped around Assessero's neck until the knot was under his chin. He drew up his legs, and his convulsive gasps were shocking to see. He was slowly strangled. The crowd pressed forward, and medical men surrounded the quivering body. For fully five minutes the convulsions continued, and it was seven minutes before his pulse ceased to beat.

Sunday Desecration.

Special to the TRIBUNE of Altoona.

HUNTINGDON, November 15.—The sale of Sunday newspapers here to-day was greater than ever before, notwithstanding the determined opposition on the part of Huntingdon Law and Order league and its efforts to enforce the provisions of the statute of 1791, relating to worldly employment on Sunday. It was thought that the arrest of News Agent Moore last week would deter not only him but the other newsdealers from continuing the sale of Sunday papers, but instead of this, however, their stands were open as usual to-day. The result of the action now pending against Mr. Moore is awaited with great interest by the public in general, as are also the new methods of procedure it is expected the league will employ to win its point. It is confidently predicted by some that the movement will ultimately fail for lack of popular and financial support.

Religious Revival.

WILLIAMSPORT, November 15.—D. L. Moody opened a religious revival here to-day in the large skating rink, where three services were held, nearly four thousand people being present at each meeting. S. A. Taggart, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, was also present. In the evening after a sermon of thrilling power by Mr. Moody nearly one hundred persons declared their purpose to embrace religion. The speaker declared it to be the greatest sight he had ever known in the city. He will remain two more days.

A Millionaire Author.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—William Waldorf Astor, the millionaire and former minister to Italy, has written a historical romance entitled "Valentino," which will soon be published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

The Family Cat.

AUBURN, Ill., Nov. 16.—The farm house of Albert Jones was completely destroyed yesterday afternoon by an explosion of nitro glycerine, stored in the house, which Mr. Jones had been using to remove obstinate stumps from his land. Shortly after dinner, Sunday the entire family went to a neighbor's house in the village, to spend the afternoon, leaving the house securely locked. About three o'clock a shock and thundering detonation alarmed the village. An hour later, while the amazed town people were bewildered by speculation and doubt, a messenger arrived from Mr. Jones' home, bearing the news that the house had been blown into atoms through some mysterious agency, and that inasmuch as the family could not be found, it was presumed they had perished in the explosion.

Soon after the excited people began to arrive upon the scene, however, Mr. Jones, together with his wife and children, put in an appearance. The house and contents were scattered in fragments over an area of 500 yards square. Half the original height of the four walls was left standing, with a sawtooth and splintered fringe all around the irregular top of the oblong. Two beds were found several hundred yards apart, one in the road in front of the house. A sewing machine was buried head first in the flower garden, and broken chairs, tables, pictures, dishes and wearing apparel, and various household articles were strewn around the place.

While Mr. Jones and a party of friends were viewing the wreck, wondering how the nitro-glycerine could have been exploded, a faint, sickly cry was heard, and a search resulted in the finding of the family cat in the branches of a tree fully fifty feet from the house. It is now surmised that the cat caused the disaster by pushing from a table some article sufficiently heavy to explode the nitro-glycerine which was placed on the floor.

Killing Chinamen.

DEMING, N. M., Nov. 16.—A band of Indians roving near the town of Lake Valley on Saturday killed three Chinamen, who conducted a farm on Mimbres creek, five miles from Toron. The bodies were horribly mutilated, clearly indicating that the savages did the killing.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

—The Pennsylvania railroad began the sale of duplex tickets on trains Thursday. If a passenger does not buy a ticket at the station for any reason and offers to pay his fare to the conductor, that official sells him a ticket, for which he charges him at the rate of three cents per mile and ten cents additional. To this ticket is attached a coupon, which the passenger keeps and presents at the office of the company when he reaches his destination, and the ten cents is refunded.

—Mr. James Potter's residence on Spring street has been repainted. The new color is yellow, of a darker shade than that of Dr. Dartt's or George Jackson's residence.

—Thomas Walker, recently a resident of Lock Haven, committed suicide by shooting himself while seated in a parlor car at Jersey City on Saturday night. Domestic infelicity was the cause.

—On Friday the name of R. M. Magee, Esq., was placed on the register of the American Hotel, Philadelphia, and Hon. A. G. Curtin on that of the Lafayette.

—Winter is coming—in fact, is very near. On Saturday, a sharp frost told of his approach, and on Sunday biting blasts made us more sensible of the fact that he is not far off. The severity of the weather causes us to think of the poor. We wonder if there are many people in this vicinity who are in need. We occasionally see children and even older people searching here and there in ash piles and among debris for coals and wood. Must they do this to procure fuel to keep them warm? Let those who are able to help others, search such people out and see that they do not suffer.

—A gentleman of our acquaintance on Monday found a family living in the country, several miles from Bellefonte, who are suffering greatly. The family numbers thirteen and they were destitute of clothing, having only old wraps to pin around them to protect them from the cold. As the gentleman is wealthy and the details have been reported to people who will help the family, we are confident that they will be relieved.

—"Bald Eagle," our correspondent at Vale, about a year ago, sent us several items of great interest. Evidently, nothing of much importance has come to his knowledge of late, else why this silence?

—That ball at the Skating rink on Wednesday evening, November 25, will be under the auspices of the Adelphic club and promises to be enjoyable.

—The hunters who went out last week shot a deer weighing about 150 lbs.

SPECIAL MENTION.

—Every lover of the sport of hunting is taking advantage of the present favorable weather to spend a day or two in the forest. We have not heard many reports concerning the success met with, but our observation leads us to believe that it is not large, as none of the hunters come home burdened beneath more game than they can easily carry.

Fall and winter WOOLENS just received. LEAVE YOUR ORDER NOW AND SAVE MONEY. MONTGOMERY & Co., Tailors.

—The Bellefonte borough school board, in session Tuesday evening, gave orders for the payment of $1000 indebtedness. This much of the burden taken off the tax-payers should make them feel quite merry.

We have received from George Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine, the well-known Art Publishers, a magnificent full length steel engraving of General Grant. It is after Anderson's celebrated photograph, which was made while the general was still in full vigor, and represents him in his sturdy, manly strength, as the people wish to remember him. It is undoubtedly, the best portrait ever made of the general.

Messrs. Stinson & Co. are in need of agents for several important, popular, new publications, and offer inducements that should be heeded by those in need of profitable work; those who write to them will receive, free, full particulars.

—Three prisoners escaped from the jail in Lock Haven on Sunday. One of them was "Wild Bill," the man who gave pedestrian exhibitions in Bellefonte a few months ago.

—Notice is hereby given the public that I will not pay any bills contracted by my wife, Priscilla J. Beak, and credit must not be extended to her on my account. GEO. R. BEAK.

—The Pennsylvania Railway officials are preparing to experiment with the electric locomotive headlight on their lines, with a view to their adoption should the tests prove to be satisfactory. This feature of the P. R. R. in taking hold of all new inventions and discoveries calculated to enhance the security and rapidity of their traffic, is the great secret of the firm place that corporation holds in the estimation of the traveling public.

Consumption cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetation remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after testing its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. 17 46 1y

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Every lover of good music could not fail to be entertained and instructed by reading the Musical Herald, a monthly magazine published by the Musical Herald Co., Franklin square, BOSTON, Mass. The November number is before us, and starts out with a very interesting article on "Music among the Aztecs," embellished with beautiful illustrations that are beautiful to all lovers of art. Then there is Talks on the Voice, Essay on Ancient Greek Music, etc; together with two excellent pieces of music, worth more than the price of the book, which is $1,00 a year, or ten cents a single number.

Dr. Dio Lewis is always engaged in some enterprise for the good of his race. We have known him for years, and always found him ready to take hold of any enterprise that would make men and women more perfect. In former years, when we first saw him, he was in charge of a school at Lexington, Mass., for young ladies, a first-class institution in every way. He has now latterly started a magazine, "Dio Lewis' Nuggets," full of good advice as to how to get and retain good health. We venture to say that any who will take this magazine and follow its teachings, will not only never regret it, but will live as long as is possible with the the constitution inherited from their ancestors, and lay the foundation for a long lived family in their posterity. The Nugget comes monthly The price is $1.00 a year or ten cents a copy. Address Dio Lewis Publishing Co., 69—71 Bible House, New York.

The November number of the American Bookmaker—Vol 1, No. 5—a journal of Technical Art and information for publishers, printers, lithographers, book-binders, blank-book manufacturers and all others connected with or interested in book making. The magazine is beautiful in its mechanical construction. The best of paper is used, but this is not its chief excellence; its contents are invaluable to all engaged in any of the branches it treats of, and would very much interest any intelligent reader no matter what his profession or calling. Publis ed by Howard Lockwood 126—128 Duane St., New York. Subscription $200 per year, single copies 25 cents.

CROSBY'S

VITALIZED

PHOS-PHITES

Composed of the Nerve giving Principles of the Ox-Brain and the Embryo of the Wheat and Oat.

This is a standard preparation with all physicians who treat mental or nervous disorders. The formula is on every label. Its chemical composition is superintended by a professor of Chemistry.

As it is identical in its composition with brain matter, it is rapidly absorbed, and quickly relieves the depression from intellectual efforts, fatigue, loss of memory, or mental irritability.

Sleeplessness, irritation, nervous exhaustion, inability to work or study is but a brain-hunger—in urgent cases, brain starvation. This brain nutriment quickly feeds the hungry nerves and restores brain power. It is a cure for nervous disorders and debility in old or young.

BRAIN WORKERS NEED BRAIN FOOD.

Crosby's Vitalized Phos-phites should be taken as a Special Brain Food.

To build up worn out nerves, to banish sleeplessness, neuralgia and sick headache. I have not had a severe headache since I began its use, it was my great trouble before.—Dr. Guyon.

To promote good digestion.—Dr. Pilmore.

Philipsburg Again.

Our butchers have reduced the price of meats. This might have been done long ago, as they have surely reaped a bountiful harvest from Philipsburg people.

It looks very much as if Evangelist Moody will not visit Philipsburg this year—some other year, perhaps.

Rabbit trapping is indulged in to considerable extent in this section. Boys, it's against the law, don't you know that?

'Squire Hess is the "boss jug smasher." He gets there in good shape, and takes it all in a good humor, too. The concert in the Baptist church where the breaking was done was in perfect success.

Editor George P. Bible, of the Centre Democrat, was in this city a couple days this week. George is just as good a fellow as his name indicates. Come often, George.

"Bob" Musser can't hit a dog worth a cent. "Toney" got off safe that time, anyhow.

Clarence, the big, corpulent barber, was the lucky man at the shooting gallery on Wednesday night. He won a fine, large turkey. Now we expect to see him going around hollowing gobble, gobble, gobble.

Who stole "Mick" Adams' turkey? Echo answers, who? He says he knows. Do you think you do, "Mick"?

Mr. R. M. Musser and daughter, Hattie, have returned home, after a two week's visit to friends at Lewistown and Altoona. Their many friends here were glad to see them come back.

The basement of the Baptist church has been rented by the school directors, and will be converted into a school room, the buildings for that purpose proving entirely too small for the number of pupils attending our public schools. This will necessitate the securing of an additional teacher. Philipsburg's looking up, you bet.

She has arrived from Clearfield, and, oh, how happy F— is. Just too happy for anything.

Two men were cooled off in Fort Gehr on Thursday.

Harry Cunningham has returned from his visit to Norristown, Pa. He looks well after his long stay—of two days.

The enterprising firm of J. N. Troxell & Co. have just purchased a fine team of horses for delivering purposes. They don't run a one-horse wagon any more. Oh, no!

The person who hitched his team to the sign post in front of the Post office drug store should have known better, but it appears he didn't. The team, in trying to get away, pulled down sign, post, etc. Will some people never learn anything?

The big girls of our city play "hooky" and chew gum. Shame on you, girls.

A social hop was given in the rink last night. As usual it was well attended.

Yesterday was another disagreeable day.

H. A. Mitchell returned to this place last evening, after a week's recreation at Clearfield, his place of abode. Everybody was glad to see Howard at his accustomed place.

There lives on Centre a young lady, so we are told, that never saw a printer man, as she calls him. The other day she asked the gentleman she lives with, What kind of an animal they were anyhow? Suffice it to say, she hadn't been in town very long at a time, before.

Mr. Jackson Harman, steward of the Huntingdon county alms house, and father of Dr. Harman of this place, has been in the city part of this week.

The editor of the Journal, Mr. W. T. Bair, has quite a cabinet of minerals, curiosities, etc. Some of them that are very fine. He added largely to his collection while on his recent trip to the West.

Is the eight o'clock system played out altogether with some of our business men? It looks very much like it, to say the least. SOME ONE.

Lines from Loveville.

LOVEVILLE, NOV. 14, 1885.

A meeting will be held at the Centennial school house on Saturday evening, November 21. This meeting is for the benefit of the tax payers of Loveville and vicinity.

The Centennial Literary Society now holds its meetings in the Loveville school house.

Professor Lewis, of Chester county, is now in Loveville. He will remain here during the Winter, teaching classes in Music and Latin composed of the people of this vicinity.

The Woman's Temperance Union held their meeting on Saturday, November 14, in the Methodist Episcopal church. Now let these ladies do some personal work.

Some of the farmers are providing themselves with large supplies of hard cider.

Thomas Way continues to say that he voted for himself.

The election in Half Moon township began quietly, but ended rather active. Many of the Republicans did not go to the polls, being confident that the "Old Keystone" State was all right. CLAY.

—The skating rink investment did not prove a profitable one to its recent proprietors, the Fishel Brothers. We regret to learn that they sunk about $1,000 since first purchasing it, and they are doubtless glad now to be rid of it.

STOVES

And for the balance of the season we are going to sell them REGARDLESS OF PROFIT. Come soon, while the assortment is not broken too much. Our opposition will tell you we don't mean it, but our answer is try us and see for yourselves.

WE HAVE ALSO AN ELEGANT LINE OF

Horse Blankets, Lap Blankets and Robes

WHICH WILL BE SOLD LOW.

Our stock is, and always will be, kept full and complete in all its details. It is not our intention to close out our business, but we are going to unload a large portion of our surplus stock. It will be to our customers', friends' and enemies' interest not to overlook this opportunity. Big profits and long credits are dead and buried with us. We imagine ourselves just beginning life anew, and don't wish to remember our old methods of doing business, and are giving our whole time and attention exclusively to the Hardware business.

H. K. HICKS & BRO.

We will not refuse credit to responsible parties for goods on 30 days' time—this we consider cash—and when we grant this we want it distinctly understood that at the expiration of that time the account must be paid. We don't intend to exhaust what little profit we have made by sending statement after statement to each one that owes an account that is due, but will send one, and to avoid offense and misunderstanding we explain publicly in this manner what we mean, so don't ask for credit unless you fully intend to live up to our terms.

Good Clothing vs. Slop-Shop Clothing.
With a view of giving the best value for the least possible prices we have raised the quality of our CLOTHING in MEN'S, YOUTHS, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S to such a grade that we hold ourselves ready to compete with any custom work made in Centre county, at prices far below merchant tailors' prices, and before buying solicit a visit to examine our stock. In doing this we have to a large extent sacrificed profits to meet prices suitable to the times. As endless variety in the whole line.
S. & A. LOEB.

Hand-Made Boots and Shoes.
We have prided ourselves for years on the quality of our BOOTS AND SHOES, and have hundreds of testimonials for their elegant service. Why buy a cheap Yankee Boot or Shoe, when you have to buy two or three times a winter, when you can get a better pair to last the whole season for near the same price? Low priced goods in Boots and Shoes are not the cheapest. Buy a good pair and try the difference.
S. & A. LOEB.

Ladies' Coats, Jackets, Newmarkets AND SHORT WRAPS.
The largest variety ever shown in Centre county, all tailor made to our own order by skilled operatives. Superior fit and workmanship. All the latest designs at prices fully as low as ordinary goods are offered at. Our aim has been to give as good a wrap in workmanship, fit and grade of goods as careful work and good goods can make them. Try one of ours on before buying elsewhere.
S. & A. LOEB.

DRY GOODS.
We quote no leaders in DRY GOODS, but offer everything in the line fully as low as legitimate competition will or can afford it. We have no calicoes at 5 cents per yard, nor Canton flannels at 6 cents, as our regular trade have no use for such goods, but we have a full line of DRY GOODS, comprising everything, Domestic Dry Goods and Home Furnishing Goods, including prints at the very bottom prices, and the cheapest and best line of White and Colored Blankets ever offered in Bellefonte.

Frightful Railroad Wreck.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 12.—The Chronicle-Telegraph has intelligence of a frightful wreck which occurred at Blue Stone Quarry, two miles east of Connellsville, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at 6 o'clock this morning. Train No. 12, the through express from Baltimore to Pittsburg, consisting of a sleeper, two coaches, two baggage and one express car ran into a misplaced switch and was completely wrecked. The sleeper rolled over the embankment into the Youghiogheny river. The other cars were overturned and the whole train detached from the engine. Sixteen persons were injured, but none were killed outright.

The express was about fifteen minute late when it reached the place where the wreck occurred. At Blue Stone Quarry the track makes a sharp curve around the river, a short distance back from the banks. There is a switch at the commencement of the curve. Whether some one had left the switch partly open or not is not yet ascertained. The officials of the road say that it was tampered with, evidently with an object in view of causing a wreck. Had the switch been open the train would have gone into it all right and could have been stopped before any damage had been done. As it was, the train could go on neither track. The result was that the engine dashed along the ties, tearing up the track and causing the coaches and sleeper to break loose and dash over the embankment, in the wildest confusion. The sleeper rolled over and over and stopped with its side lying in the bed of the river, thirty feet below. The two passenger coaches stopped at the water's edge.

List of injured: Hon. C. E. Boyle, Uniontown, extent of injuries not known, but supposed to be serious; J. N. McJilton, Baltimore, legal agent Baltimore and Ohio railroad, badly cut and ankle sprained; J. Toy, of Boston, foot hurt; John Sheridan, Piedmont, West Virginia, right arm cut; B. Shairs, New York, hand and back hurt slightly; Collector E. A. Bigler, Allegheny, legs and hands slightly cut; Mrs. W. L. Wells, Indianapolis, leg sprained; Charles Hirrsch, New York, shoulder hurt and scalp wound; F. W. Young, New York, back and leg sprained; Joseph E. Dollan, Brooklyn, New York, hands cut; Mrs. Lucy Moffett, Sewickley station, Baltimore and Ohio railroad, were burned; S. H. Wismer, Garrett Pa., injured internally; Mrs. Dyer, Pittsburg, face slightly cut; C. F. Young, scalp wound and head bruised; Hon. John Dowlin, Pittsburg, slightly bruised; F. McGraw, porter on sleeper, badly cut about the head; Odin Van Meter, Shadyside, Pittsburg, badly burned about the hands.

LATER.—In addition to the sixteen before reported the following persons were slightly injured: J. A. Kelly, Baltimore; George Lane, England; John Yonker, engineer, Connellsville, and Division Freight Agent Burgesser, of this city. Congressman Boyle is very seriously hurt, but will probably recover. He was taken to his home at Uniontown.

$1,000,000 for Missions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The general missionary committee of the Methodist Episcopal church was in session all day yesterday and in the evening at Broadway and Eleventh street making appropriations for the church missions for the ensuing year. The foreign missions were first taken up, and were voted $432,596 of which $7,000 will go to Africa, $23,075 to South America, $93,006 to China, and $24,600 to Germany and Switzerland. Scandinavia will receive $51,794. India $83,700, Bulgaria and Turkey $14,166, Italy $29,738, Mexico $43,038, Japan $42,600, and Corea $9,311. The missions in the country not in annual conferences next received attention. These embrace nearly all of the territories. The committee voted $73,200 for them, of which $19,550 will go to Utah.

The appropriations for domestic missions will cover work in the various conferences among the Welsh, Swedes, Norwegians, Scandinavians, Germans, French, Chinese and English, and amount to $94,900. Missions among the American Indians were given $1,000 for the central New York mission, $800 for the Yakamas Indians on the Columbia river, $700 for the Indians in the Detroit conference, $450 for the Genesee Indians; Michigan, $800; Montana, $1,000; northern New York, $500; the Nooksacks, of Puget Sound, $500 and Wisconsin, $300—a total of $5,950. The Bohemians of the Rock river and east Ohio conference will be helped with $1,300.

Appropriations for English-speaking missions throughout the country occupied the committee during the evening. The total set apart for these missions is $384,400, and for miscellaneous expenses $86,000, making a grand total of $908,966, of which $827,000 was raised up to the end of the fiscal year, October 31. A report was received that the Woman's Foreign Missionary society had appropriated for the ensuing year $185,640, and that the Woman's Home Missionary society had appropriated $60,000, making a total to be spent under the missionary societies of the church of $1,560,236.

Discontinued.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson has discontinued a postoffice in Utah, not because the postmaster did not give entire satisfaction to the community he served, but because that community was composed entirely of himself, four wives and seventeen daughters. Nobody else patronized the office, and Colonel Stevenson thought the department could not afford to maintain a postoffice for the exclusive benefit of one family. Besides, a man, under the Edmunds act, with four wives is incapable of holding public office.

Tendered an Ovation.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11.—The citizens arrested at Tacoma for intimidating the Chinese have arrived here by special train under military escort. They were tendered an ovation by the people all along the line and here. Thousands of dollars have been pledged for their defense in the courts.

A Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Empire plaster mills, Nos. 21 and 23 Bethay street, a six story brick building owned by Augustus Isaac & Bro., caught fire between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning and was almost completely destroyed.

About fifteen minutes after the fire broke out and while the firemen were engaged in stretching hose to the building, a cloud of dense, thick smoke enveloped them and they had just time to jump backward into the hallway when the whole eastern end of the building in the rear fell in and the neighboring yards were covered with a mass of bricks, plaster and machinery.

The noise made by the falling walls gave the people living in the surrounding houses the idea that there had been an explosion, and this added to the terror. It was fortunate, however, that the wall fell in at such an early stage of the fire, for otherwise the buildings on the back street would have been in great danger and it might not have been possible to save them. By dint of hard work the fire was confined altogether to the plaster mill and none of the adjoining or surrounding houses are damaged to any extent.

Mr. Augustus Isaac estimates the loss on the building, stock and machinery at $50,000. He is insured for $20,000 on the building and machinery, and $7,000 on stock in nine different English companies. As far as known no persons were injured.

Nailing the Nailers.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11.—At a meeting of the Western Nail Association here today, the mills located at the following places were represented: Pittsburg, Wheeling, Sharon, Pa.; Ashland, Ky.; Steubenville, Ohio; Ironton, Ohio; Terre Haute, Ind.; Niles, Ohio; Belleville, Ill.; Brilliant, Ohio; Milwaukee and Chicago. A letter was read from the Secretary of the United Nailers, Heaters and Rollers' Association, stating that the conference committee of that body was willing to meet a like committee of the Nail Association. This, however, was declined, the Secretary of the Nail Association being authorized to reply that no negotiations would be entered into with the United Nailers of America, but that all nailers would be given employment who were willing to accept the manufacturers, scale and work on the same condition as the present workmen. A resolution was adopted declaring that the Association regards the advance in the selling price of nails and the wages of nailers in the east only temporary, and exclusively, an incident of the present strike. The Association adjourned to meet here one month hence.

A Dynamite Cartridge.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., November 12.—Particulars have just been received of a distressing accident which occurred near the little village of Rockfield, twenty-six miles north of this city, this morning. The little 4 year old daughter of Jacob Dhein, a limeburner, and stone quarrier, innocently picked up a large dynamite cartridge used for heavy blasting and threw it into the kitchen stove. A terrific explosion followed shattering the house, killing the girl, fatally injuring Mrs. Dhein, and seriously mutilating other members of the family.

The child's head and arm were torn from the body, its head being found quite a distance from the house, attached to a portion of the family dog's head, the animal having stood by the little one's side at the time of the explosion. The mother had both limbs broken and her body frightfully mutilated in the region of her bowels. She cannot recover. Mr. Dhein had several bones broken, but is thought to not be fatally injured. The force of the explosion was so great as to scatter portions of the building for miles about.

A Great University.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—The details of Senator Stanford's scheme for the establishment in California of a great university were to-day made public for the first time. His range at Palo Alto, near Menlo Park, about thirty miles from San Francisco, has been selected as the site. The several buildings comprising the university will be on the general plan of a parallelogram, and will be constructed so as to permit additions being made as the necessities of the institution may require. Senator Stanford will donate to the university his Palo Alto, Gridley, and Vina properties, worth $5,300,000. To this he will add a money donation, so as to make the total endowment of the university $20,000,000.

Falling Heir to $7,500,000.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Nov. 12.—Charles H. Parker, single, 28 years of age, who has resided here for a year past, has been notified that he has fallen heir to a fortune of $7,500,000. The property was left by young Barker's aunt, Mrs. Mary Ann Thurburn, of London, daughter of William Wilton Barker, to her brother, Charles H. Barker, Sr., formerly a teacher of foreign languages in Harvard College. Mr. Barker died a few years ago, leaving six children, all of whom are now alive. The estate will be settled at once.

The Plenary Decrees.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—Rev. Dr. O'Connell arrived in this city at 6:45 o'clock this morning. He went directly from the railroad station to the archepiscopal residence, on Charles street, and delivered to Archbishop Gibbons the decrees of the late Plenary Council bearing the signature of Pope Leo XIII. The decrees will be given to the publishing house of Murphy & Co., and will be prepared for distribution as quickly as possible.

Bartholdi.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—M. Bartholdi, who arrived here last night, called at the War Department this morning, in company with Anthony Pollock, of this city, to pay his respects to Secretary Endicott. M. Bartholdi brought with him from New York two models for the proposed monument to Lafayette, to be erected here. They will be placed in the office of the Secretary of War to-morrow for the inspection of the members of the monument commission.

Mr. Gladstone.

EDINBURG, Nov. 10.—Mr. Gladstone's health has not been affected in the least by his exertions yesterday. He slept soundly last night, and not a particle of his hoarseness reappeared to-day. He made no political speech to-day, but has taken considerable walking exercise in Dalmeny Park.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—The Governor has approved the action of the Board of Pardons in recommending commutation of the death penalty of Curtin McClain to imprisonment for life. The board in its reasons for the commutation says that there is no doubt that McClain killed Smearman, but that there is a question as to whether the crime was premeditated. McClain will soon be removed to the Western Penitentiary.

TRENTON, Nov. 11.—The State had an opportunity to-day to be heard in reply to the railroads' appeal from the State Board of Assessors' valuation of their property. Barker Gummere argued for over three hours to show the constitutionality of the act of 1884 and to justify the State board's methods of assessment. To-morrow it is expected that Ex-Secretary Robeson will argue for the Central Road.

WILKESBARRE, Nov. 11.—Burglars last night entered the clothing house of J. Stern & Co., the fruit store of H. Magee & Co., the paint store of Houpt, Frantz & Co. and the tea store of Jones Brothers, in South Main street, in the principal part of the city. The establishments were ransacked and small sums of money and a quantity of valuable goods stolen.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the Philadelphia branch of the Women's Board of Missions was held this afternoon in this city. The meeting will continue two days. This evening Rev. Edward Riggs, of Marsovan Turkey, delivered a missionary address and to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock Mrs. Riggs will address the ladies.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 11.—Stewart McKee, a millionaire glass manufacturer and one of the best known citizens of Pittsburg, died suddenly this morning, aged forty years.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—An agreement has just been entered into between Edward Payson Weston and Daniel O'Leary, the old pedestrian rivals for a walk of 2,600 miles for a purse of $3,000 and net gate receipts.

WASHINGTON, November 11.—The president to-day appointed John G. Lee, of Philadelphia, secretary of legation at Constantinople, Turkey. Dr. Lee is a friend of Minister Cox, and is understood to have been appointed on his personal solicitation. He is familiar with modern languages and is said to be peculiarly fitted for the place.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 11.—The seventh annual State Fair of the North Carolina Industrial Association (colored) was opened here to-day by Governor Scales. Montford McGee, State Commissioner of Agriculture, in a speech, advised his hearers to acquire land, and assured them of the earnest sympathy and constant aid in all ways of the white people of the entire State.

The Lion will go for the Mouse.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A cabinet council has been held at the official residence of the first lord of the treasury. The reply of King Thebaw to England's ultimatum having been read, the cabinet declared war against Burmah, and a formal declaration of war, with the queen's sanction, has been issued. The French government and the Burmese minister resident of Paris have been notified. All foreign subjects remaining in Burmah are required to come into the British lines. The British army of invasion is advancing 15,000 strong, the greater portion being on steamers. The first military operation will be the bombardment by the ironclad flotilla of the Mindla forts.

Forty Persons Poisoned.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 11.—About ten days ago three members of a family named Morris, who had been receiving their water from a well near the cotton factory, became very ill, and a day or two afterward four other members of the same family became ill. Soon there were twenty people in that locality quite sick, and the manager of the mill became a victim.

Last night six more persons were taken down, and several, it is feared, cannot recover. An investigation has been commenced, and it is thought some miscreants have poured a quantity of poison into the well. Fully forty persons have already been affected.

Preparing to Encounter Disease.

The prevalence of malarial disorders being dependent upon vitiated conditions of atmosphere and water is, in certain regions, of course, inevitable. The grand question, therefore, presents itself to every resident of a fever stricken locality is, "What means shall I adopt to escape the dreaded scourge?" For a third of a century Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been the embodied answer to this question. In thickly populated and sparsely settled districts alike, in town and in country, it has afforded constant protection against malarial infection to those who have used it. It eradicates and prevents, with equal certainty, fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, and nullifies also the pernicious after effects of using persistently the hurtful alkaloid sulphate of quinine. It also remedies, with thoroughness, dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, debility and rheumatism.

We have heard of a young woman who can not forget the happy moments she spent at the seashore last summer. She had such a splendid time in the briny waves! Now she is frequently bathed in tears. It is the nearest approach to the real thing she can think of.

The Beginning of Sickness.

Never trifle with what are called small ailments. If you feel inert, with a bitter or bad taste in the mouth, loss of appetite, bowels costive, resort at once to Simmons Liver Regulator. For the miseries of dyspepsia and they include almost every unpleasant feeling that belongs to physical disease and mental wretchedness—this potent medicine, Simmons Liver Regulator, is a certain and speedy cure.

"It fairly Wearies me to Think of the multitude of things advertised to cure disease," you say. No wonder. But in the mountains of chaff there are grains of golden wheat. We may find it difficult to induce you to test the merits of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, but when you have done so, our work is ended. Afterwards you and this medicine will be fast friends. Favorite Remedy would have died out long ago except for its real usefulness. But it is good and does good.

Vitalized Phosphites is a cerebral food, increasing the activity and giving power to the brain; its effects are permanent, because it is not a stimulant like Brandy but a vitalizing element to the brain. By druggists.

Candidates for elective office have become so plentiful in our streets, that a stranger cannot stop a man for even so trifling a matter as asking the way to the nearest restaurant, without having his hand clutched and shaken with an effusiveness truly affecting.

A Cure at Last.—Ely's Cream Balm goes more directly than any other catarrh remedy to the seat of the disease, and has resulted in more cures here than all others.—Wilkesbarre, Pa., Leader.

My son, aged nine years, was afflicted with catarrh, the use of Ely's Cream Balm effected a complete cure. W. E. Hamman, druggist, East on, Pa.

President Seelye of Amherst College, was in Congress and recalls with pride that his election cost him only five cents. Treated to one beer, we suppose.

AWFUL INCENDIARISM.—To set on fire the dwelling of an immortal soul with Alcohol is a great crime. Whoever administers rum bitters to the sick is guilty of it. The only medicine in existence which extinguishes disease, by removing diseased matter from the system, is Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, a tonic, yet free from Alcohol.

Says an exchange: "With money come poor relations." But poor relations won't come with money. This is one of the rules that wont work both ways.

The best time made by passengers between San Francisco and Chicago is 4 days and 16 hours; a train load of tea recently made the run in four days and 13 hours.

PARTIAL PROSPECTUS OF

WIDE AWAKE for 1886.

Full Prospectus sent on Application.

A mother, whose five children have read WIDE AWAKE from its first number to its latest, writes: "I like them because it is full of impulse. Another thing—when I lay it down I feel as if I had been walking on breezy hilltops."

SIX ILLUSTRATED SERIALS:

I. A MIDSHIPMAN AT LARGE.

II. THE CRUISE OF THE CASABIANCA.

Every boy who sailed in fancy the late exciting races of the Puritan and Genesta, and all lovers of sea stories, will enjoy these two stories of Newport and Ocean Yachting, by Charles Remington Talbot.

III. A GIRL AND A JEWEL.

Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford, in this delicious White Mountain Romance, contributes her first serial to a young folks' magazine.

IV. DILLY AND THE CAPTAIN.

V. PEGGY, AND HER FAMILY.

Margaret Sidney writes these two absorbing Adventure Serials for Little Folks. 36 illustrations each.

VI. A SIX MONTHS' STORY (title to be announced), by Charles Egbert Craddock, author of Down the Ravine.

ROYAL GIRLS AND ROYAL COURTS.

By Mrs. John Sherwood. This series, especially brilliant and instructive, will begin in the Christmas number, and run through the year.

A CYCLE OF CHILDREN.

By Eldridge S. Brooks. Illustrations by Howard Pyle. Twelve historical stories celebrating twelve popular holidays. The first six are:

Master Sandy's Christmas Snap-dragon. Dec., 1885.
Mistress Margery's New Year's Pin-Money. Jan., 1886.
Mr. Pepy's Valentine. February, 1660.
The last of the Geraldines. March, 1535.
Dicon and the Wise Fools of Gotham. April, 1250.
The Lady Octavia's Garland. May, 1887.

STORIES OF AMERICAN WARS.

Thrilling incidents in our various American Wars. The first six are: The fight of Key Biscayne, Joel Jackson's Smack, A Revolutionary Turncoat, How Daniel Abbott Outwitted the Indians, In the Turtle Crawl, The Boy Soldiers of Cherry Valley.

IN PERIL.

A romantic dozen of adventures, but all strictly true. The first six are: Saved by a Kite, In a Mica Mine, The Varmint that Runs on the "Heigh-Ho!" Taz a Taz. The Life Trail. A Strange Prison.

YOUTH IN TWELVE CENTURIES.

A beautiful art feature. Twenty-four superb studies of race-types and national costumes, by F. Childe Hassam, with text by M. E. B.

FIRE PLACE STORIES.

This article will be a notable feature of the Christmas number. The rich illustrations include glimpses of Holland, Assyria, Persia, Moorish Spain and New England, with two paintings in clay modelled expressly for Wide Awake, and reproduced by special process, in three tones.

SOME SPECIAL ARTICLES:

L'Enfant Terrible Turk, The Princess Pocahontas in England, Autographs and Autograph Hunters, A Grand Pea-nut Meet, A Sixteenth Century Schoolboy, My First Buffalo Hunt, Through the Heart of Paris, The Dumb-Betty Lamp.

TWELVE BALLADS.

These are contributed by the foremost women poets of America. Each Ballad will fill five to seven pictorial pages. The first six are: The Deacon's Little Maid, The Story of the Chevalier, The Minute Man, The Hemlock Tree, The Children's Cherry Feast, Little Alix.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York. 17 46 4t

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., N. Y. 17 46 4t

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

—Celery is abundant.

—The chrysanthemum is now the popular flower.

—The moon now makes the evenings, when the sky is clear, very beautiful.

—Moody and Sankey are now holding meetings in the opera house at York, Pa.

—Brilliant meteoric showers are said to be due about this time. Sleep with one eye open.

—The heavy coats and the rich velvet bonnets now being worn by the ladies are very handsome.

—Thomas J. Frow has been appointed associate judge for Mifflin county in place of William A. McGonegle, dec'd.

—The outside of the new merchant tailoring store in Humes' block has received an application of very black paint.

—Galusha A. Grow should not look for such a large Republican majority that it could not have room to grow any larger —The residence of Wilbur F. Reeder, Esq., is handsomer than ever under its recent improvements, including a coat of fresh paint.

—Mrs. Krape, who resides with her nephew, Mr. Aaron Ulrich, in Penn township, fell a few days ago, breaking her collar bone.

—A Lutheran congregation has been organized at Coburn, a lot selected for a church building and the edifice for worship will soon be erected.

—A new bell of very deep tone has been put in the tower of the Centre Hall Lutheran church. It is considered one of the best bells in that section.

—To meet the largely increasing demand the Lewisburg Nail Mills have doubled their productive capacity and from this time on will run night and day.

—The amount already subscribed toward the erection of a building for the Young Men's Christian Association is about $4500 and its success is almost certain.

—The annual meeting of the teacher institute will soon begin to attract attention. Wonder if the Court House is considered too good to be used in the cause of education?

—Times must be good with the special correspondent of the Bellefonte Daily News. He's spiurging around in one of the nobbiest new derby hats we have seen this fall.—Philipsburg Ledger.

—It was Mr. Adam H. Harter, of Millheim, and a young lady from the same place, who went all the way to Camden, N. J., to get ahead of the marriage license law. He is now as happy as a fortunate bridegroom ought to be.

—The boys who spend the afternoon playing foot ball so near the residences on Curtin street that there is danger of breaking windows should be more careful. The police should visit that part of the town occasionally to look after them.

—On the 11th of next month the Historical Society of Pennsylvania will commemorate the two hundredth anniversary of the introduction of printing into the middle colonies of North America. The exercises will occur in Philadelphia.

—The highly-ornamental sky blue car of Gerberich, Hale & Co., has been further beautified by a picture of the mill painted on it. As the car goes traveling over the lines of railroad it will everywhere tell of the æsthetic taste of the mill owners.

—The editor of the Centre Hall Reporter credits himself with being a pretty good shot when he says: "If you stand at the Centre County Bank, in Bellefonte, and throw a stick in the direction of Spring creek bridge you can hit half a dozen newspaper establishments in one throw."

—Information has been received in this place of the death of Mr. Thomas Morris in California. He was a son of Mr. William E. Morris. He was related to the Burnside and Mann families in this vicinity and was a gentleman of business ability, being extensively connected with railroad and other enterprises.

—An exchange hits the nail on the head at the first trial when it says: "You are safe in betting five to one that the man who is eternally growling about his home papers having nothing in them, is one of the many who frequent stores and other business places, for the purpose of stealing the contents of that which he is too mean or stingy to take and pay for."

—"A Fulton county woman has trained a turkey gobbler to turn a grindstone," says an exchange. While we very much doubt the truth of that assertion we believe, that if it is really so, nothing but the approach of Thanksgiving enabled the woman to train the turkey. The poor bird perhaps believes that if it tries to be useful its life will be spared for a while.

—The annual session of the Clinton county teachers institute will be held in the Court House, Lock Haven, commencing Monday, November 23, and continuing during the week. We notice that Rev. Chas. Steck, pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, has been engaged to give readings and elocutionary instruction. The Clinton county teachers may consider themselves fortunate in securing Rev. Mr. Steck, as he has no superior as a reader and in Shakespeare he has not an equal.

The Sunday-School Convention.

The sixteenth anniversary of The Centre County Sunday School Association, held at Philipsburg on Wednesday of the present week, was successful in every respect except a serious disappointment in the absence of expected Bellefonte speakers who were diligent in their presence at the Moody meetings in progress at the same time. Certain other speakers from Bellefonte, including Revs. S. E. Furst and Crittenden with Captain Austin Curtin, tried to excuse themselves for the same reason. These gentlmen, however, were present and in constant service during the entire day.

The substance of the addresses delivered and conclusions reached by the discussions will be given in the county papers. The scholars' exercises, at the afternoon session, were highly creditable and instructive. Too much praise could not be awarded to those who had charge of the music under the efficient leadership of Miss Switzer. The number of entertaining families exceeded the number of delegates to be entertained. The deeply interesting exercises of the closing evening session, especially the temperance part, will not soon be forgotten by the large assemblage in the M. E. church.

The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Capt. Austin Curtin, of Roland; secretary, Mr. John Kline, of Bellefonte; treasurer, Mr. Charles F. Cook, of Bellefonte. Executive Committee—Messrs. H. Y. Stitzer, J. W. Mattern, D. S. Keller, W. S Zeller, F. P. Green and H. L. Harvey. Revs. W. E. Fischer, C. Wortman and J. P. Hughes.

Rev. R. Crittenden reported "In Centre county there are at the present time 170 Sunday-schools with a membership of about 13,500. Of these schools it is known that 140 use the International Sunday-school Scripture Lessons; more than seven-eights.

In regard to temperance it is safe to say of the 13,000 members in the Sunday schools of Centre county, 999 thousandths are total abstainers from intoxicating drinks. In other words, not one in a thousand is in the habit of using intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

Wherever the people, young and old, are regularly in the habit of studying the Bible, there will always be found the virtue of temperance. The sum added, according to Scripture, "To knowledge, temperance."

A Word to Business Men.

The success of the Bellefonte nail works leads us to inquire why other industries cannot be started in Bellefonte with equal success? This institution was formed by men who did not have a very large amount of capital, but were endowed richly with pluck and energy and it has reaped largely for its founders and proved a blessing to the community. They had the same obstacles to overcome that await every other enterprise, but having led the way in overcoming them, does not the logic of events indicate that the same push and industry in any other enterprise will be similarly successful? There are many other manufactories that might be opened that promise as great success. Capital is a very necessary aid in such enterprises, but we take it that experience and careful management are more necessary. There are at least a half dozen wealthy gentlemen in Bellefonte whose business ability is unquestioned and whose money and judgment can inaugurate successful enterprises. Let them devote themselves to the development of the resources of this community and the growth, wealth and importance of Bellefonte are assured. Bellefonte will then be known not only as the abode of wise, conservative and agreeable citizens, but also as the home of push and enterprise, the Mecca of the skilled mechanic and faithful workman.

It is pleasant for us to learn that the nail works are constantly growing; that the demand for their product is ever on the increase; and that the powerful engines, growing furnace fires, hundreds of nail machines and the army of skilled workmen are kept busy night and day. The fame of the nail works extends to all parts of the civilized—and parts that we are sometimes apt to term uncivilized—world. The nails are shipped north, south, east and west—sometimes half way round the globe. The excellence and cheapness of the nail manufactured constitute the great advantages which it now possesses over others. Let it be an enduring model of imitation and inspiration for others.

Listening to the Word of Life.

When the 10,35 train west departed from Bellefonte on Wednesday morning it carried as one of its passengers the Evangelist, Dwight L. Moody. The last seen of him by those who waited at the depot was as he stood on the rear platform waving a farewell with his white handkerchief.

There is no doubt that he accomplished great good while here. Many of those who went the first time to hear him were impelled by curiosity, but it was a desire to hear what he had to say that attracted them to each succeeding meeting. Every man, woman and child in Bellefonte seemed to feel that they must hear Mr. Moody. The most careless and indifferent realized that he had a message for them that would benefit their souls, and we have yet to hear of any man, woman or child who will not testify to having received benefit. Every reference to Mr. Moody is made with utmost tenderness, affection and respect.

The message which he delivered though only the simple truth of the Gospel, which seems so old and so familiar that it can scarcely have a new interest, was told in a manner that made its full importance thoroughly understood.

Though it would be too much to say of him that "Never man spake like this man," it nevertheless remains true that the Word, as spoken by him, seems to possess a significance and meaning which others fail to give it. Hundreds were deeply impressed, and we confidently predict that hereafter a fresh interest will be taken in spiritual things. We urge upon those who are Christians to be more careful of their actions than ever before. Do not be a stumbling block to any of these people who may be watching you. Be ever ready to break the bread of life to them. Let those whose business it is to minister in spiritual affairs cultivate simplicity, straightforwardness and earnestness.

—Our exchanges contain notices of a very extensive transfer of coal property which has recently taken place in Clearfield county. The property sold was that owned by Harned, Jacob & Co., of Philadelphia, and Berwind, White & Co. are the purchasers, for the sum of $200,000, cash. Three of the collieries under lease included in the transfer are the property of Hon. William A. Wallace. In the terms of sale it was stipulated by Harned, Jacob & Co., not to engage in coal mining in the Clearfield region for a period of five years. Over two thousand men are employed in the mines, but the sale will not affect them in the least as the new proprietors intend to commence operations at once and to carry on the work in the collieries to their full capacity. It is also intimated that in short time they will commence the development of new coal lands in the vicinity and thus supply work for a large number of additional men. John Whitehead, Esq., the well known coal operator of Huntingdon, who is a prominent member of the firm of Harned, Jacob & Co., was principally instrumental in bringing about the sale of this valuable coal property. About a year ago this firm purchased two thousand acres of coal and timber lands in Jefferson county for the sum of $250,000, mention of that sale being made in this paper at the time, and it is now thought by persons, whose intimate personal relations with the members of the firm justify the utmost confidence in their statements, that Harned, Jacob & Co. will proceed at once to develop their recent extensive purchase in Jefferson county.

—All parts of Bellefonte seem to be increasing in beauty. Our attention was particularly attracted to this fact this morning as we walked along Howard street. There are several bright, new, fresh-looking houses on that street. Mr. C. H. Weaver's large frame dwelling, although built several years ago, looks as well-kept and neat as if it might have been finished only yesterday. Charley Hewes' house has an exceedingly stylish appearance, and looks as if it might be wonderfully comfortable on the inside. No greater improvement could have taken place than the conversion of Mr Henry Harris' house into the elegant dwelling which now ornaments the northwest corner of Howard and Penn streets. Only a few weeks ago, it seems, the DAILY NEWS referred to the purchase of a lot by H. H. Harshberger, Esq., on Penn street, and his intention to build immediately. But thus soon a large and handsome brick dwelling has risen from the ground and makes an imposing appearance as viewed from the low level of Howard street. It is just south of Dr. Swartz's new house. Among the adornments of the house is a double bay window on the southern exposure, and will be a delightful home for Mr. H. H. H. and his family. This end of the town is not the only one that is improving. An equal number of pretty dwellings are being erected on Bishop street and on the outlying portions of the borough. Bellefonte is more and more becoming a town of homes, which is always a desirable aim in any town.

The Power of Example.

A boy was reproved, the other day, for smoking a cigarette. "There's Preacher ——" said he, "he smokes!" Those who receive such a reply from a boy cannot very well show him the fallacy of his reasoning in favor of cigarette smoking. Ministers who indulge in the habit can, however, rest assured that the boys are watching and taking example by them.

—The Millheim Journal relates the particulars of a serious accident which occurred in that place on Monday, Nov. 9. Mr. Ayers, of that borough, tried to stop a runaway horse, but was knocked down and run over. His leg was broken and he was otherwise injured. Everybody will sympathise with Mr. Ayers as he received his injuries while trying to save others.

—Philipsburg Journal: Mr. James C. Williams, of Bellefonte, has moved his family to this place, now occupying the Morgan house, corner of Eighth and Laurel streets. He is the father of H. C. Williams, Sr. editor of the Ledger. We welcome them to the city.

An Interesting Letter from Unionville.

There is an increased activity in the business circles of this place owing to the exchange going on between farmer, merchant, and mechanic.

With the rising of the sun nearly every morning the squealing of hogs is heard, which indicates that the time has come for pork, sausage, and buckwheat cakes.

We understand B. Rich and his party are set up very tony at their new hunting camps on Benner's Run, with everything clean and neat—women cooks, and a spring house with two apartments, one for butter and meat, the other for other refreshment.

The farm work in this neighborhood is well advanced. Many persons are done husking corn, and some are yet busy.

The farmers on Dick's Run are all plodding on enriching themselves, according to their opportunities. J. C Peters shows particular energy, skill and good taste in the building up of a pleasant country home. Having a saw mill lately constructed to run by steam, and located within a short distance of good pine, oak and hemlock timber, he is prepared to accommodate his neighbors with lumber for their houses, barns and sheds, at a moderate cost. Thus his purse becomes a hopper to collect some of the surplus of the neighborhood. There are the Scholl brothers, who manifest a great deal of push, and have a particular knack of accumulating and keeping what they get, nevertheless are kind neighbors. There are other nice little farms along the way, but away up near the head of the run at the foot of the Allegheny mountain lives D. C. Hall, another farmer of great energy and good management, who turns out more eggs and butter than any of the rest.

The school authorities of Union township deserve much credit for their enerprise in arranging nice grounds, and building a fine new school house near the residence of Wilson Irwin, and for the nice new patent desks which they have provided for the health and comfort of the pupils. They seem also to be partial to the ladies, for they have female teachers in all their schools.

One Democrat in Union township says "it is his honest opinion that Cleveland will not be our next President, and that Jack Griest will never get another county office, for he would not let the women hold a temperance meeting in the court house." Jack, you might as well run your head against a stone wall as to run against an organization of women. C.

Coming Entertainments.

Stuart Rogers will give one of his matchless entertainments of recitations and impersonations, in Humes' Hall, on Saturday evening, the 21st He will do this despite the fact that the Centre Democrat mis-spells both of his names, making them Stewart Rodgers. His entertainment will be highly intellectual and elevating. Don't fail to see him in his impersonations of "Tommy Grindle," wherein he tells his story in laughable school-boy fashion; in "The Country Parson," which is a parody on the mannerisms of some preachers, but which is perfectly friendly in spirit and thoroughly refined; in "The Outcast," which he portrays with a tenderness and depth of feeling that touches a responsive chord in every heart; as "Miss Amarynthia," who is an elderly maiden relating her experience at the Centennial; in "The Old Scotchman," who tells dramatically of the downfall of his only son; and also in the character of "Gus Fizzfoodle," one of the funniest of Mr. Rogers' funny impersonations. Seats reserved in any part of the hall for Mr. Rogers' entertainment for 50 cents.

We are informed that there is a possibility that the Kellogg Opera Company may give Bellefonte a date in December

—The question has frequently been asked, whether teachers or directors can excuse pupils in our public schools from studying physiology and hygiene when so requested by their parents. The State Superintendent has answered this question in the negative. The law is strictly compulsory and instead of excusing any pupils from studying it, they are required to have it taught to all children in their schools as the act expressly provides.—Ex.

—On Thursday the office of this paper was favored with a call from Mr. G. W. Kline, a one-armed soldier who lives at Julian Furnace, this county. It is always pleasant to meet with those who perilled their lives in the defense of the Union, and especially when they bear with them such unmistakable evidences of valor, and are such excellent citizens as Mr. Kline.

—A blooming bud from the poetic garden of that exquisite writer, W. S. Wilson, has been crowded out until to-morrow's issue.—Altoona Times.

If that bud is still blooming it is well you saved it until to-morrow. When you give it to us let it be a well-developed blossom.

—Joseph Fulder, an employe of Valentines' mine bank, met with an accident while at work on Friday after noon, his leg being broken. We have not learned just how it occurred.

Death of John Keeleher.

The many friends in Bellefonte of the late John Keeleher, of Snow Shoe, were shocked to learn of his death, which occurred at fifteen minutes of 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. He was until recently, a resident of this place. He was a man of about 38 years of age, agreeable and industrious. He had recently purchased the house formerly occupied by Mr. Louis Doll, and, we understand, was to be married soon.

His death was caused by the kick of a horse on Saturday, the 7th instant. We are informed that his remains were brought to Bellefonte from Snow Shoe Friday evening and the funeral services were held in the Roman Catholic church on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Keeleher, whose death is recorded above, will be remembered by the people in Bellefonte by the fact that he was employed here for several years, two years by the Messrs. Brown, on Bishop street, and three years by Mr. F. X. Lehman. While in Snow Shoe he has been engaged at the Mountain House as hostler. His remains were taken to the house of Mr. John Carney, on Logan street, until the hour for the funeral.

—Mrs. Mary Shimer, one of Huntingdon's oldest and most respectable residents, says an exchange, had occasion the other day, for the first time in fifty-one years, to open an ancient feather-bed, which, it is proper to say, has not been in constant use during all that time, and was surprised to find about two dozen of hickory nuts mixed up with the feathers—said nuts having by some means, as she verily believes, found their way into the bed when it was made in 1834, by her own hands. Be this as it may, some of the nuts were cracked open and found to be as fresh and sweet as if they had been of this year's growth, which to say the least, is very remarkable, considering the great age attributed to them. One of these nuts is now in the possession of our informant, a resident of Huntingdon, who assures us there is every reason to believe that the kernel it contains is as sound and fresh as those found in the ones which were broken open for inspection. Here is a nut—yea, verily, more than a dozen of them—still intact, for the scientists to crack at their leisure. Will some of them please elucidate the mystery?

AN INTERESTING LETTER

From Mr. Harry Olmstead, Proofreader of "The Times."

The following letter is encouraging and worthy careful perusal, coming, as it does, from so reliable a source, unsolicited. It contains facts of great value:

INDIANAPOLIS Ind., Oct. 12, 1884.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR:—For ten years I have been a sufferer from disease of the kidneys, at times so much so as to make life a burden. During this time several of the best physicians in Indiana have treated me with little or no success, until I had almost despaired of relief. I then tried several advertised remedies, but nothing produced the desired result until a friend who had been relieved induced me to give DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY a trial. I did so. After taking one bottle I began to experience relief. I took another and was charmed with the result. In all, I have taken four bottles, and can truly say I feel like a new man. I am confident I am entirely cured, as it has been several months since I took the last medicine and there is no indication of a return of the disease. I have recommended your remedy to several suffering friends who have also been relieved. I write this to return my sincere thanks to you for the cure which has been effected in my case, and also desire to say that I think suffering humanity owes you a debt of gratitude for your wonderful scientific discovery. I shall do all that in me lies to let all sufferers know where they may find relief and thereby in some measure remunerate you for the good you have done me.

Wishing you long life and prosperity, and thanking you for prolonging my life, I am
HARRY W. OLMSTEAD.

DR. KENNEDY, OF RONDOUT, N. Y., assures the public by a reputation which he cannot afford to imperil that the "Favorite Remedy" does invigorate the blood, cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder complaints as well as those diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females. Your druggist has it; if not, send One Dollar to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. 17 36 1y

Profit for Everybody.

Parker's Tonic kept in a home is a sentinel to keep sickness out. Used discreetly it keeps the blood pure, and the stomach, liver and kidneys in working order. Coughs and colds vanish before it. It builds up the health.

"I sell large quantities of Parker's Tonic in my drug store. Among my customers, a doctor has been prescribing it for the past two years. He was nearly dead himself, and tried every remedy known to his profession, without any relief. After he had used four bottles of Parker's Tonic he began to grow in flesh, and the improvement in his health was absolutely wonderful. He now recommends it to everyone."—J. E. DARNOW, Calumet Ave Pharmacy, 115 Twenty-ninth Street, Chicago, Ill.

—Mr. Justin Brownell, a young man living at the Intersection, was quite ill on Sunday, being attacked by a severe sickness to which he is frequently subject, but which was more severe than usual on this occasion

—J. C. Harper, Aaron Williams and a couple of other gentlemen returned with their guns from the woods on Saturday evening. As they did not carry their game with them, it probably arrived later on a special train.

—The great Bee Hive dry goods firm comes to the front to-day with a new announcement. Messrs. Sol. and Aaron Goldsmith, the gentlemanly proprietors, are enterprising men and always offer bargains to their customers.

—A. J. Cruse's new residence on East Linn street has received its first coat of paint. This house occupies such an elevated site as to be visible from all parts of the town. It will be very attractive and handsome when finished.

—Charles Smith, a young man living in Cambria borough, and who works for the Cambria Iron Company, was overcome by gas while working near the furnace Monday afternoon, and fell into the furnace. He was burned beyond recognition.

—The November moon fulls on the 22d. Venus is evening star; she appears in the western sky early in the evening, almost as soon as the sun sets, and may be seen for about two hours after her first appearance. Although Saturn is now a morning star, he is visible nearly the whole night.

—The decoration of the windows of W. I. Fleming & Co's merchant tailoring store was finished on Saturday evening An admiring crowd gathered outside and looked in. "What a stylish hat!" "It reminds me of the windows in Philadelphia and New York," etc., were the remarks made.

—The meeting of Gregg Post, G. A. R., to be held next Saturday evening, will begin at 7 o'clock, so that it can adjourn in time for the Stuart Rogers' recitations at 8 p. m. We believe the principal business of the meeting will be to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

—There is a probability that repairs will soon be made on Water street, which, according to all reports, greatly needs it. As soon as the Street committee of council believes the borough can afford it all necessary repairs will be made. At present "Economy" is the word.

—Ten weeks ago Harry Elsworth Mulholem, aged 18 years, left the home of his parents at Fostoria, Blair county, and has not since been heard of. He is described as being five feet six inches tall, black eyes and dark hair, and as having the two front fingers of the left hand off at the second joint. Any information of his whereabouts will be thankfully received by William Mulholem, Fostoria, Blair county, Pa.

—Susie Sellers is the daughter of Mr. William Sellers, who lives in Bush's new addition in the western part of the borough. Susie will only reach her fourth birthday on the second of next month She is a remarkably intelligent child and has almost completed quite an elaborate crazy quilt which she expects to have entirely finished when 4 years old. These quilts are somewhat difficult for even older folks to make, and we fail to know any other little girl so young as Susie who has performed a similar feat.

Recollections of Sunday.

Sunday, November 15, was the coldest day thus far of the present season. People who ventured on the street donned their winter garments and hurried on to their destinations. The wind blew cold all day and the sun was hid by clouds. The congregations at the churches were about as large as usual.

In the Episcopal church, Rev. John R R. Robinson, the rector, officiated. The music of the service was very nicely rendered by the choir. The address of the morning was based on the words contained in the 9th chapter of Matthew, 21st and 22d verses.

For she said within herself, if I may but touch His garment I shall be whole.

But Jesus turned Him about; and when He saw her He said, Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made hee whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour.

His remarks comparing the hem of Christ's garment to the sacraments of the church were beautiful and edifying.

In the evening he delivered a sermon from the text in the latter part of the 26 verse of the first chapter of the Gospel according to St. John.—"There standeth one among you whom ye know not." The practical application of this text which impressed us most was when he said that Christ is among us now in the person of the poor, whom if we help as they need and deserve we really do service for Christ. He is also among us in His church.

In the Presbyterian church Rev. Mr. Torrey, of the Lackawanna Presbytery, discoursed from the words in St. Luke 24:45 to 47:

Then opened He their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures,

And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day,

And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name, among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

In the evening the music was rendered by a choir of about fifty voices, and Rev. William Laurie, the pastor, made an address from St. Luke 19:10:

For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.

The attendance at the church was much larger than usual at the evening service, and we believe it is the pastor's intention to hold similar services, modeled in a certain degree after those held by D. L. Moody, on future Sunday evenings.

The Y. M. C. A. service at 4 o'clock in the afternoon was attended by about thirty persons, the exercises being conducted by J. W. Gephart, Esq.

Rev. Chas. T. Steck officiated in the Lutheran church, as usual, on Sunday, preaching in the morning from Matthew 13:18—"Hear ye therefore the parable of the sower." For his evening text Psalm 103:8 was chosen—"The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and plenteous in mercy."

Rev J. A. Woodcock preached twice in the Methodist church. We have not learned the text of his morning discourse. That of the evening was Proverbs 20:4:

The sluggard shall not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest and have nothing.

A Meeting of Borough Council.

The President of council being absent on Monday evening, Mr. L. T. Munson was again chosen president pro tem. Five other members sat around the table, viz., L. L. Brown, Ed. Brown, Jr., C. H. Weaver, William Shortlidge and William Hillibish.

Clerk Mitchell read the minutes and they were approved without change.

Three gentlemen, the spokesman of whom was Mr. William O'Leary, appeared to request more light on Spring street on the ascent of Quaker Hill. This request was referred to the Street committee.

A proposal from S. M. Buck in regard to supplying a certain amount of soft coal was referred to the Water committee.

Mr. L. L. Brown, chairman of the Street committee, reported plans, specifications and dimensions of the sewers to be built on Cherry ally and Bishop street, said that an agreement had been drawn up and Mr. Harry Yeager given the contract, the other bidder being Mr. Perry Steel. The agreement and the plans and specifications were read, council approving them. The Street committee also reported satisfactory progress of the work on Burnside street.

The chairman of the Water committee reported that the water works and all the appliances connected therewith are prepared for Winter. It was stated that the plumbers, in tampering with the fire plugs, frequently put them out of repair and break them. The propriety was discussed of taking extreme measures to prevent this.

The Street committee and borough engineer reported the necessity for a gutter in front of the cemetery lot on Howard street, and the Cemetery company was, on motion, ordered to make such gutter within a week.

—The Young Men's Christian Association is under obligations to Mrs. Robert Valentine for the following bound volumes of magazines: Three volumes of Appleton's Journal, (complete); four volumes of the Atlantic Monthly, and two volumes of Lippincott's magazine. Such gifts are always acceptable.

A Lock Haven Girl.

A Lock Haven girl who spent a short time in Bellefonte the other day waxed indignant because somebody remarked that Lock Haven girls are in the habit of using such expressions as "getting left," "rustled around," "went back on him," "corraled her handkerchief," "in the swim," "made the riffle," and "put in his best licks."

"That is a fish story," she said; "the fellow who said it is way off his base."

"You think then," was asked, "that there is no truth in the assertion that Lock Haven damsels are addicted to slang?"

"Well now hold on," she answered. "I dont mean exactly that. There may be some of them who sling slang, but I never sling the slang racket myself. I suppose some of the girls do use slang sometimes, but this child is not one of them—now, you hear my bazoo?"

"What is your opinion of Bellefonte belles, compared to those of Lock Haven?" was queried.

"I think," she said, "we can discount your Bellefonte belles in beauty, and as for accomplishments, why, that's where we hold a full hand. Take me, for example"—

Our reporter, who overheard the conversation, had time only to exclaim, "I should be most happy to take you!" when she playfully ejaculated:

"Come off; that isn't what I mean. Take me, for example. I can paw the ivory with the best of men. I can warble a few warbs, and I can elecute, too. No, sir. I can tell you, Bellefonte girls have got to hustle to keep even with us, and its very seldom I hear of any of the girls using slang. That little pond of water you have out there at the water works is the only thing that we can't equal. I acknowledge that it's a daisy and takes the bakery."

Care for the Soldier Dead.

Under the act of assembly of May 13, 1885, county commissioners are requested to appoint suitable persons in each township to look after and bury indigent deceased soldiers and sailors of the United States.

The duties of the appointees shall be to inquire, first, whether the deceased served in the army or navy of the United States in any war; second, whether the deceased was honorably discharged; third, whether he died in the township, ward or borough for which the persons taking charge of deceased were appointed; fourth, whether deceased left insufficient to defray the necessary burial expenses. If they shall find all the above facts to exist they shall take charge of any such person and cause him to be buried in a decent and respectable manner in any cemetery within the State, except in a burial ground exclusively used for the burial of paupers. After the burial of such soldier or sailor it shall be the further duty of the person so appointed to report to the county commissioners as follows: First, the name of the deceased person; second, his rank; third, the command to which such deceased soldier or sailor belonged at the time of his discharge; fifth, the character of his occupation immediately preceding his death; sixth, the date of his death; seventh, the place of his burial; an itemized statement of the expenses incurred in and about the burial of such deceased soldier or sailor.

After making out the report, the same report must be sworn to by three suitable persons of full age, who reside in the township, ward or borough in which such deceased person died, and who are acquainted with the facts set forth in the report and who of their own knowledge know that such deceased person died without sufficient means to defray his necessary funeral expenses. After having made out the report in legal form, the person so taking charge and burying the deceased soldier or sailor, shall forward it to the county commissioners, who will pay the expenses of taking charge, if not exceeding thirty-five dollars.

Committees of the Y. M. C. A.

Gen. James A. Beaver, President of the Young Men's Christian Association, has appointed the following committees for the ensuing year:

—Have you engaged your Thanksgiving turkey?

Court Cullings.

Two courts are in progress this week in the court house. Judge Krebs, of Clearfield, is presiding in the court room, proper, and Judge Furst is holding court in the arbitration room.

The steam heat keeps the court room at a temperature which is quite feverish.

Only one case has thus far been tried before Judge Krebs. It was that of John Hoy vs. A. Baum, agent of Adam Baum In the trial of this case Fortney and Furst are named as attorneys for the plaintiff but Fortney appeared alone. Beaver & Gephart appeared for the defense. A verdict for the defendant was arrived at about 11 o'clock this morning.

The trial of an action brought by John T. Fowler against James Cross and Geo. Gates ended at noon Tuesday and was given to the jury, who deliberated upon it during the dinner hour.

John T. Fowler vs. James Cross and George Gates, debt; Beaver & Gephart for plaintiff; John G. Love, Esq., for defendant. Verdict for Fowler, $45.14.

Daniel Durst vs. Adam Krumrine. Compulsory non suit.

George Flack vs. Jas. L. Sommerville—assumpsit. Dale Brothers for plaintiff; Hoy for defendant. The trial of this case occupied the entire morning and was not concluded until sometime Wednesday afternoon.

BEFORE JUDGE FURST.

The first trial before Judge Furst was an action of ejectment brought by Geo L. Reid against Morrisey and others. A verdict was found for the plaintiff for the land described in the writ.

J. H. Sands vs. Lemuel Shipman—appeal for debt. S. D. Gray, Esq., for plaintiff; Hastings & Reeder for defendant. Verdict for defendant.

An action of ejectment which reads on the docket "J. Tome, D. G. Bush and Ed. Blanchard, for the use of J. Tome and D. G. Bush vs. Joseph W. Myers" has occupied all the morning, the testimony being all in at noon. J. G. Love, Esq., for plaintiff; Beaver & Gephart for defense.

—While in the City of Brotherly Love and Sisterly Affection, last week, we visited the business house of Thomas W. Price & Co., dealers in printers supplies, paper, cards, etc., at 505 Minor St. We went there because we have long known it as the very best establishment of its kind in the country. That most genial of gentlemen, Mr. Harry Jones, was informed of our presence and came forward promptly to do the honors of the occasion. He conducted us through the vast building from basement to garret, making the ascent via elevator. We looked at the force of clerks, each one of whom has his particular department and is as busy as a bee in a hive in August. He permitted us to look through the many scrap albums filled with handsome cards. We found everything admirably arranged and, as we expected, in apple pie order. Our esteem for the gentlemen who compose the firm was increased by the visit and we do not wonder now why it is that all publisher find Thomas W. Price & Co. such an excellent firm to trade with. Every order given them is promptly attended to and they give their customers the best goods in the market for the money.

—A letter received by the writer from Rev. John Hewitt, of Fremont, Neb., contains so much that is really interesting concerning that country that, although the communication was intended to be strictly private, we cannot forbear publishing a few extracts. Concerning the parish, to which he is ministering, he writes: "A more than doubled congregation since my advent here gives a promise of success that makes the work much easier. Already my salary has been increased $200." Of newspapers, he writes: "This (Fremont) is not a new town in the Western sense; it is an old one—16 years old—and has in it three weekly and two daily papers. Out here, almost every town the size of Milesburg has at least two weekly papers. Two or three weeks ago I went about 250 miles northwest from here by rail, and learned that at the terminus of the French, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley R. R. the town of Chadron, composed chiefly of tents, had three newspapers—two of which were printed in tents."

—Bellefonte is fortunate in having such large, beautiful and well-stocked stores and each year they are growing in beauty and excellence, despite the fact that there is some complaint of diminished trade, caused by the multiplicity of stores and the change of the manner of running trains on the Snow Shoe branch railroad. We want to inform our friends in all parts of this county that there is no place within a distance of fifty miles where there are such excellent stores or where goods can be purchased so reasonably as in Bellefonte. In selecting which stores to trade at consult the columns of this paper. You will find that each advertiser will perform all he promises, and perhaps much more, as it is impossible to narrate all within a limited space.

—Several festivities at the Skating Rink are on the programme. One of them, we believe, will occur on the 25th—the evening before Thanksgiving—and another on December 24—the evening before Christmas.

—Is there anyone in the United States who wants to engage in a profitable business? If so, let them communicate with the owners of the car works buildings in Bellefonte. There are three or four comparatively new, substantial brick buildings, with unsurpassed water power. They are adapted for any sort of a manufactory. Although they could not be placed there again for less than $50,000 or $60,000, a purchaser can have them for less than half that price. This, it seems to us, is a wonderful opportunity, for anyone who has small capital and large brains and plenty of push. Bellefonte is now the terminus of the Bellefonte, Nittany and Lemont railroad, which affords shipping facilities in the direction of many of the populous centres of the State. It is also connected by rail with the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, the best-paying branch under the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad Other manufacturies started here have proven very successful. Here in Bellefonte and vicinity are unlimited supplies of lime, sand, coal, lumber, stone, iron, etc., and manufactories utilizing any of these will have wonderful advantages. Besides, the town is healthful and beautiful, the people are educated and refined, the location delightful. Grasp the opportunity.

—Rev. James P. Hughes owns a music-loving hound. It has recently manifested a most extraordinary passion for music. Mr. R. A. Beck, the barber, is accustomed to artistically while away the time between shaves by performing on a clarionet. Several times each day the strains of music are heard issuing from the barber shop and as soon as they begin the hound rushes to the spot and listens, thus showing its appreciation of the music. If no one is passing the dog will advance to the curb, plant its fore feet on the stone and looking up to the sky, will listen to every note, occasionally emitting a wild, wierd howl. The circumstance is decidedly peculiar and has been noticed and commented on by many persons.

—The Huntingdon car and wheel works, says a dispatch, was sold on Saturday to Mr. Percival Roberts, a wealthy capitalist of Philadelphia, for $20,000. The sale was perfected by Samuel E. Henry in behalf of the bondholders and the deed is now recorded in the register's office. Mr Roberts is a member of the firm of H. & P. Roberts, and is engaged in the manufacture of iron axles at Manayunk. He will engage in the manufacture of cars at Huntingdon at an early day.

—While in Philadelphia last week we did not forget to visit the Columbia House, located on Broad street in one of the most desirable sites in the city for those who desire excellent accommodations at reasonable rates in the very heart of the great metropolis. The hote is under the supervision of Mrs. Hutton and Miss Hattie Bible, and all the arrangments of the house are elegant and attractive. Bellefonters who visit Philadelphia cannot do better than make the Columbia House their temporary abode

Death of Mr. Edward Johnston.

At an early hour Monday morning the death of Mr. Edward Johnston occurred at his home in the ridges near Milesburg. He was 70 y'rs and 2 mts old. He was a member of Centre Lodge, I. O. O. F., in this place, which attended the funeral on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Johnston was a zealous Democrat in politics and was well known and greatly esteemed as a citizen.

—To keep cabbage through the Winter, remarks an exchange, take an old salt barrel (any barrel tightly put together will answer), and sink three-fourths into the ground, banking the earth about it. Take up the top head and in the barrel put your cabbage for Winter use. Cover with any old carpet or sacking, on which put straw, weighted to prevent blowing off and your cabbage is always safe and accessible, even in the coldest weather.

—Two Bedford county youths named Russell Sherman, and James Feegle, aged 21 and 15 years respectively, were arrested a few days ago for entering the house of Jacob Marshall, about three months ago, with masks on their faces, and brutally beating Mrs. Marshall because she refused to tell them where her husband's money was concealed.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Aikens and their daughter, Miss Lillie Aikens, departed on Tuesday evening for Milroy, Mifflin county, where last evening at 7 o'clock they were present at the wedding of Miss Annie Swartzel, daughter of Andrew S. Swartzel, of that place, to Mr. Samuel Moore, of Elmira, New York.

—Among those the managing editress of this paper had the pleasure of meeting while in Philadelphia was Mrs. M. A Folts, of Chambersburg, Pa. She is the wife of the editor of the Public Opinion, published in Chambersburg, and is a very agreeable lady.

—Lock Haven now has a board of trade and seems to be so proud of it that she probably will not trade it off for a board of any other kind.

Personal Pencilings.

Ex-Gov. Curtin traveled toward Philadelphia on Thursday.

Col. D. S. Keller, after several weeks illness, is improving quite rapidly.

Mrs. Munson, of Phillipsburg, is at the home of John Ardell, Jr., on Linn street.

Mr. James Laurie, of this place, was at the City Hotel, Williamsport, on Tuesday.

Mrs. Dr. Dunn, of Mackeyville, is the guest of Mrs. L. A. Schaeffer in Bellefonte.

Rev Koser, of Northumberland, is visiting friends in the neighborhood of Boalsburg.

Mr. Thomas Collins, the celebrated railroad contractor, has been in Bellefonte this week.

Mr. J. B. Ennis, advance agent for Milliken's opera comedy company, spent Friday in town.

Mrs. Jenkins, of Williamsport, is at the home of her son, Mr. William Jenkins, in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson returned home Saturday after spending a few days in the Smoky City.

Mr. Benjamin Boddle, of Fillmore, was in Bellefonte Saturday. He reports all peaceful in his section.

Col. Aaron Goldsmith don't say anything about it when he makes his frequent trips to Philipsburg.

Mrs Orvis, wife of Judge John H. Orvis, is at home again after quite an extended visit in Philadelphia.

Miss Mertie Garretson, of Huntingdon, Pa., is a guest at the home of her uncle, John C. Miller, on Howard street.

Miss Lulu Meek, daughter of Mr. P. G. Meek, returned on Saturday evening from several weeks visit in Pittsburg.

Will Auchenbach was in Bellefonte Saturday evening and helped to decorate the show windows in Mr. Fleming's store.

Col. W. H. Wilkinson, of the famous china store, came home Tuesday morning from the city, where he spent several days.

J. C. Harper, Esq., is clerk of Judge Furst's court. His extensive experience renders his services in this capacity of much value.

Mr. Henry Trimble, a young gentleman from Florida, after sojourning a few days at the home of Mr. Harry Hicks, departed on Friday.

Mr. Samuel Brooks went to Lock Haven on business on Tuesday. He is assisting Mr. Fields in selling the short music instruction system.

Mr. J. B. Hahn, formerly proprietor of the Milesburg axe works, and now a resident of Philadelphia at 2123 Master street, spent Sunday in Bellefonte.

Mr. Charles Glenn, proprietor of the Spring Mills photograph car, is attending court this week. He is a witness in the case of H. D. Landis vs. R. G. Brett.

Our good looking friend, Mr. Richard Beastion, of Tyrone, was in town Monday. Mr. Beastion is an experienced business man and quite popular socially.

Miss Fannie E Gray, managing editress of the DAILY NEWS, came home from Philadelphia on Saturday evening, after ten days very enjoyably spent in that city.

Miss Sallie Hoffer, the charming daughter of our townsman, Mr. John Hoffer, departed on Tuesday evening to visit her friend, Miss Dora Belcher, of Charlotte, Michigan.

Mr. Emil Joseph went to Williamsport on Saturday and returned Monday. He has interesting business in that city which will frequently require his presence there.

Mr. Will Tyson, of Philipsburg, and formerly a resident of Bellefonte, is referred to in the Ledger as "the possessor of the best tenor voice in town." Will's voice always was remarkably sweet.

—Marianna Everett Kimball, a niece of Edward Everett, living at Plainfield, N. Y., writes to the Gazette and Bulletin, of Williamsport, that the claims of Edward Everett, the hostler of that city, to be a nephew and namesake of her famous uncle are spurious and unworthy the credence of anyone. We suspected that such was the case when we first read the sensational article published in a Williamport paper and widely copied.

—It is a fact not generally known, remarks an exchange, that Ferdinand Ward was at one time a pupil in the old Bellefonte Academy, this State. Of course his skillful methods as a brilliant but crooked financier were not acquired in that respectable institution. Had he adhered to the good principles inculcated during his pupilage he would not now be arrayed in a prison garb and performing convict labor.
